Bracketed material. — The bracketed material was inserted by the compiler and is not part of the law.

Compiler's notes. — This section and 13-3-1, 1953 Comp., now compiled as 21-5-2 NMSA 1978, originally were enacted by Laws 1903, ch. 2, which created the New Mexico asylum for the deaf and dumb, the New Mexico reform school, the New Mexico institute for the blind and the miners' hospital of New Mexico. The government of such institutions is now controlled by the constitution of New Mexico and supplementary laws. This section may be superseded by 21-6-1 NMSA 1978, relating to powers and authority of the board of regents of the New Mexico school for the deaf, 21-5-2 NMSA 1978, relating to the management of the New Mexico school for the visually handicapped and by 23-3-2 to 23-3-4 NMSA 1978, relating to the board of trustees of the miners' hospital.

Laws 1903, ch. 2, §§ 1 to 4, refer to the New Mexico asylum for the deaf and dumb, the New Mexico reform school, the New Mexico institute for the blind and the miners' hospital of New Mexico. The first three of these institutions are now known as the New Mexico school for the deaf, at Sante Fe; the New Mexico boys' school, at Springer; and the New Mexico school for the visually handicapped, at Alamogordo. See N.M. Const., art. XII, § 11 and art. XIV, § 1.

ANNOTATIONS

Employee must comply with internal grievance procedures. — An employee must substantially comply with mandatory internal grievance procedures contained in an employee manual or handbook before filing suit for breach of contract claims based on an alleged failure of an employer to follow its employment policies. Lucero v. Bd. of Regents of UNM, 2012-NMCA-055, 278 P.3d 1043, cert. denied, 2012-NMCERT-004.

Where a university manager was terminated by the university; the manager did not follow the grievance process contained in the university's employee handbook by filing a grievance; the handbook governed the manager's employment with the university; and the manager filed an action in district court for breach of contract and wrongful termination alleging that the employee handbook created a contract and that the university breached the contract by failing to abide by the handbook's policies and procedures governing workplace performance, disciplinary action, a harassment-free workplace, employer-employee relations, progressive discipline and by disciplining the manager without just cause, the manager's claims were barred because the manager failed to exhaust the handbook's internal grievance procedures before filing the breach of contract action based on an alleged failure of the university to follow policies in the handbook. Lucero v. Bd. of Regents of UNM, 2012-NMCA-055, 278 P.3d 1043, cert. denied, 2012-NMCERT-004.

It is beyond authority of board of trustees of New Mexico reform school to make regulations by which boys committed to the school can be released on parole on the board's order. 1909-12 Op. Att'y Gen. 193.

Liability of board for negligence. — While the members of the board of the New Mexico school for the deaf and the institution cannot be held liable for negligence in the promulgation of rules and regulations and ensuing misfortunes and accidents, if they make negligent or malicious determinations in individual cases and accidents result which are the sole, direct and proximate results of such determinations, it is possible that they may be held personally liable. The circumstances of each case will be the basis for ascertaining whether there has been negligence. 1959-60 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 60-221.

Miners' hospital board has power to remove or discharge any employee, but it must exercise this power in accordance with the rules promulgated by the personnel board. 1964 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 64-130.

The health facility may request a hearing that shall be held in the manner provided in this section. The department may also proceed pursuant to the Health Facility Receivership Act [Chapter 24, Article 1E NMSA 1978].

B. The department is authorized to make inspections and investigations and to prescribe rules it deems necessary or desirable to promote the health, safety and welfare of persons using health facilities.

C. Except as provided in Subsection F of this section, upon receipt of an application for a license to operate a health facility, the department shall promptly inspect the health facility to determine if it is in compliance with all rules of the department. Applications for hospital licenses shall include evidence that the bylaws or rules of the hospital apply equally to osteopathic and medical physicians. The department shall consolidate the applications and inspections for a hospital that also operates as a hospital-based primary care clinic.

D. Upon inspection of a health facility, if the department finds a violation of its rules, the department may deny the application for a license, whether initial or renewal, or it may issue a temporary license. A temporary license shall not be issued for a period exceeding one hundred twenty days, nor shall more than two consecutive temporary licenses be issued.

E. A one-year nontransferable license shall be issued to any health facility complying with all rules of the department. The license shall be renewable for successive one-year periods, upon filing of a renewal application, if the department is satisfied that the health facility is in compliance with all rules of the department or, if not in compliance with a rule, has been granted a waiver or variance of that rule by the department pursuant to procedures, conditions and guidelines adopted by rule of the department. G. The department may charge a reasonable fee not to exceed twelve dollars ($12.00) per bed for an inpatient health facility or three hundred dollars ($300) for any other health facility for each license application, whether initial or renewal, of an annual license or the second consecutive issuance of a temporary license. Fees collected shall not be refundable. All fees collected pursuant to licensure applications shall be deposited with the state treasurer for credit in a designated department recurring account for use in health facility licensure and certification operations.

H. The department may revoke or suspend the license of a health facility or may impose on a health facility an intermediate sanction and a civil monetary penalty provided in Section 24-1-5.2 NMSA 1978 after notice and an opportunity for a hearing before a hearing officer designated by the department to hear the matter and, except for child care centers and facilities, may proceed pursuant to the Health Facility Receivership Act upon a determination that the health facility is not in compliance with any rule of the department. If immediate action is required to protect human health and safety, the secretary may suspend a license or impose an intermediate sanction pending a hearing, provided the hearing is held within five working days of the suspension or imposition of the sanction, unless waived by the licensee, and, except for child care centers and facilities, may proceed ex parte pursuant to the Health Facility Receivership Act.

I. The department shall schedule a hearing pursuant to Subsection H of this section if the department receives a request for a hearing from a licensee:

(1) within ten working days after receipt by the licensee of notice of suspension, revocation, imposition of an intermediate sanction or civil monetary penalty or denial of an initial or renewal application;

(2) within four working days after receipt by the licensee of an emergency suspension order or emergency intermediate sanction imposition and notice of hearing if the licensee wishes to waive the early hearing scheduled and request a hearing at a later date; or

(3) within five working days after receipt of a cease-and-desist order.

The department shall also provide timely notice to the licensee of the date, time and place of the hearing, identity of the hearing officer, subject matter of the hearing and alleged violations.

J. A hearing held pursuant to provisions of this section shall be conducted in accordance with adjudicatory hearing rules and procedures adopted by rule of the department. The licensee has the right to be represented by counsel, to present all relevant evidence by means of witnesses and books, papers, documents, records, files and other evidence and to examine all opposing witnesses who appear on any matter relevant to the issues. The hearing officer has the power to administer oaths on request of any party and issue subpoenas and subpoenas duces tecum prior to or after the commencement of the hearing to compel discovery and the attendance of witnesses and the production of relevant books, papers, documents, records, files and other evidence. Documents or records pertaining to abuse, neglect or exploitation of a resident, client or patient of a health facility or other documents, records or files in the custody of the human services department or the office of the state long-term care ombudsman at the aging and long-term services department that are relevant to the alleged violations are discoverable and admissible as evidence in any hearing.

K. Any party may appeal the final decision of the department pursuant to the provisions of Section 39-3-1.1 NMSA 1978.

L. A complaint about a health facility received by the department pursuant to this section shall be promptly investigated and appropriate action shall be taken if substantiated. The department shall develop a health facilities protocol in conjunction with the human services department, the protective services division of the children, youth and families department, the office of the state long-term care ombudsman and other appropriate agencies to ensure the health, safety and rights of individuals in health facilities. The health facilities protocol shall require:

(1) cross-reference among agencies pursuant to this subsection of an allegation of abuse, neglect or exploitation;

(1) the state statute or rule is not duplicated by a federal certification rule; or

E. A health facility is liable for the reasonable costs of a directed plan of correction, facility monitors, temporary management or receivership imposed pursuant to this section and Section 24-1-5 NMSA 1978. ## 24-1-15. Isolation; quarantine; protocol.

A. If the secretary or a representative of the department has knowledge that a person is infected with or reasonably believes that a person is infected with or exposed to a threatening communicable disease and the person has refused voluntary treatment, testing, evaluation, detention or observation, the secretary or the secretary's designee shall petition the court for an order to isolate or quarantine the person until the person is no longer a threat to the public health or until the person voluntarily complies with treatment and contagion precautions.

B. The secretary or a representative of the department whom the secretary designates may, by public health order, temporarily isolate or quarantine a person or group of persons if delay in isolating or quarantining would significantly jeopardize the secretary's ability to prevent or limit the transmission to others of a threatening communicable disease. The public health order shall expire at the end of twenty-four hours from the time of the commencement of the isolation or quarantine. The secretary may petition for a court order that authorizes the continued isolation or quarantine of the person or group of persons. In the petition, the secretary shall present facts used to support the need to have issued the public health order to isolate or quarantine.

C. Whether or not a public health order to isolate or quarantine was previously issued, a petition for a court order shall be made under oath or shall be accompanied by a sworn affidavit setting out specific facts showing the basis upon which isolation or quarantine is justified, including whether a person to be isolated or quarantined:

(1) is infected with, reasonably believed to be infected with or exposed to a threatening communicable disease; and

(2) poses a substantial likelihood of transmission of the threatening communicable disease to others because of inadequate separation from others.

D. Upon the filing of a petition, the court shall:

(1) immediately grant ex parte a court order to isolate or quarantine the affected person if there is probable cause from the specific facts shown by the affidavit or by the petition to give the judge reason to believe that the affected person poses a substantial threat to the public health and safety;

(2) cause the court order, notice of hearing and an advisement of the terms of the court order, including the affected person's rights to representation and re-petition for termination of a court order that removes and detains the affected person, to be immediately served on the affected person; and

(3) within five days after the granting of the court order, hold an evidentiary hearing to determine if the court shall continue the order.

E. A person held pursuant to a court order as set forth in Subsection D of this section shall be:

(1) entitled to representation by counsel at the evidentiary hearing and at all hearings thereafter for the duration of the period of removal and detention; and

(2) permitted to communicate on any matter, including the person's isolation or quarantine, with persons by telephone, or other reasonably available means that do not expose other persons to the risk of infection, for the duration of the period of isolation or quarantine.

F. Counsel may be retained by the person held or shall be appointed by the court if the court determines that the person held cannot afford legal representation or if the court determines that appointment of counsel is required in the interest of justice.

G. At the evidentiary hearing, the court shall review the circumstances surrounding the court order and, if the petitioner can show by clear and convincing evidence that the person being held has not voluntarily complied or will not voluntarily comply with appropriate treatment and contagion precautions, the court may continue the isolation or quarantine. The court shall order regular review of the order to isolate or quarantine by providing the person being held with a subsequent hearing within thirty days of the court order's issuance and every thirty days thereafter. The court order to isolate or quarantine shall be terminated and the affected person shall be released if:

(1) the person being held is certified by a public health official to pose no further risk to the public health;

(2) at a hearing, the petitioner, whose burden of proof continues under a clear and convincing standard, can no longer show that the person being held is infected with, reasonably believed to be infected with or exposed to a threatening communicable disease and that the affected person will not comply with appropriate treatment and contagion precautions voluntarily; or

(3) exceptional circumstances exist warranting the termination of the court order.

H. The provisions of this section do not permit the forcible administration of medications. A person isolated or quarantined pursuant to this section has the right to refuse to participate in medical treatment, testing, physical or mental examination, vaccination, specimen collection or preventive treatment.

I. A person who is isolated or quarantined pursuant to a court order may petition the court to contest the order or the conditions of isolation or quarantine at any time prior to the expiration of the order. If a petition is filed, the court shall hold a hearing within five days after the date of filing. The filing of a petition for a hearing pursuant to this subsection does not stay a court order for isolation or quarantine. At the hearing, the secretary shall offer clear and convincing evidence that:

(1) the isolation or quarantine is warranted; or

(2) the conditions of isolation or quarantine are compliant with the provisions of this section.

J. When isolating or quarantining an affected person, the secretary shall ensure that:

(2) an isolated person is confined separately from a quarantined person;

(3) the health status of an isolated or quarantined person is monitored regularly to determine whether continued isolation or quarantine is required;

(4) if a quarantined person becomes infected or is reasonably believed to be infected with the threatening communicable disease subsequent to quarantine, that affected person shall be promptly isolated;

(5) the needs of a person isolated or quarantined are addressed in a systematic and orderly manner, including the provision of adequate food, clothing, shelter, sanitation and comfort;

(6) there are methods of communication available to a person placed in isolation or quarantine to enable communication with family members, household members, legal representatives, advocates, the media and any licensed health care provider;

(7) an area of isolation or quarantine is maintained in a manner that minimizes the likelihood of further transmission of infection or other injury to other persons who are isolated or quarantined; and

(8) to the extent possible, cultural and religious beliefs shall be respected in addressing the needs of affected persons and in establishing and maintaining an area of isolation or quarantine.

K. A person shall not enter an area of isolation or quarantine except as authorized by the department. To protect the public health, the department may isolate or quarantine any person who has entered, with or without the secretary's authorization, into an area of isolation or quarantine.

L. Court proceedings shall be on the record and be closed to the general public. The records shall be sealed from public inspection.

M. A person who in good faith reports another person infected with a threatening communicable disease shall not be held liable for civil damages as a result of the report; provided that the person reported as being infected with a threatening communicable disease shall have the right to sue for damages sustained as a result of negligent or intentional reporting of inaccurate information or the disclosure of information to an unauthorized person.

N. During the period of isolation or quarantine, an employer shall not discharge from employment a person who is placed in isolation or quarantine pursuant to this section.

O. The secretary, after consultation with the state medical investigator, the secretary of public safety, the director and the chair of the board of funeral services, may implement and enforce measures that are reasonable and necessary to respond to a threatening communicable disease and provide for the safe disposal of human remains.

24-1-15.1. Protocol for management of active tuberculosis.

A. When a physician or other person knows that a person has, or is reasonably believed to be infected with, active tuberculosis, the physician or other person shall promptly notify the department.

B. Upon receiving notification that a person has active tuberculosis, the department shall prescribe the person a treatment plan meeting the department's therapeutic specifications for the infectious form of tuberculosis. The treatment plan shall include a notice to the person that failure to comply with the treatment plan will result in immediate initiation of court action to ensure compliance, as set forth in this section.

C. The secretary, or a representative of the department whom the secretary designates, may by public health order temporarily isolate a person or group of persons if delay in isolating the person or group would significantly jeopardize the secretary's ability to prevent or limit the transmission of tuberculosis to others. The public health order shall expire at the end of twenty-four hours from the time of the commencement of isolation. The secretary may petition for a court order that authorizes the continued isolation. In the petition, the secretary shall present facts used to support the need to have issued the public health order to isolate.

D. Whether or not a public health order was issued pursuant to Subsection C of this section, when the department has knowledge that a person who has active tuberculosis has failed to comply with the department's treatment plan as described in Subsection B of this section, the department shall petition for a court order for the person who has active tuberculosis to comply with whichever of the following courses of action the department deems appropriate:

(1) a program of directly observed therapy;

(2) isolation; or

(3) directly observed therapy and isolation.

E. A petition for a court order shall be made under oath or shall be accompanied by a sworn affidavit setting out specific facts showing the basis upon which isolation is justified, including whether the person to be isolated:

(1) has active tuberculosis or presents a substantial likelihood of having active tuberculosis based on credible medical evidence;

(2) after being advised of the condition and the risks posed thereby, has failed to comply with the department's treatment plan; and

(3) poses a substantial likelihood of transmission of tuberculosis to others because the person is actively infectious or poses a risk of relapse or development of a therapy-resistant strain of tuberculosis.

F. Upon the filing of a petition for a court order, the court shall:

(1) in cases where there is probable cause established by the petition to give the judge reason to believe that the person who has been alleged to have active tuberculosis poses a substantial threat to the public health and safety because the person is actively infectious, or poses a risk of relapse or development of a therapy-resistant strain of tuberculosis because of a history of noncompliance, immediately grant ex parte a court order to:

(a) administer a program of directly observed therapy;

(b) isolate the person and administer a program of directly observed therapy; or

(c) isolate the person, if the person refuses a program of directly observed therapy;

(2) cause the court order, notice of hearing and an advisement of the terms of the court order, including the rights of the person alleged to have active tuberculosis to representation and

re-petition for termination of a court order, to be immediately served on the person alleged to have active tuberculosis; and

(3) within five days after the granting of the court order, hold an evidentiary hearing to determine if the court shall continue the court order.

G. A person held pursuant to a court order as set forth in Subsection F of this section shall be:

(1) entitled to representation by counsel at the evidentiary hearing and at all hearings thereafter for the duration of the period of isolation or program of directly observed therapy; and

(2) permitted to communicate on any matter, including the person's isolation or program of directly observed therapy, with persons by telephone or other reasonably available means that do not expose other persons to the risk of infection, for the duration of the period of isolation or program of directly observed therapy.

H. Counsel may be retained by the person under the court order or shall be appointed by the court if the court determines that the person held cannot afford legal representation or if the court determines that appointment of counsel is required in the interest of justice.

I. At the evidentiary hearing, the court shall review the circumstances surrounding the court order, and, if the petitioner can show by clear and convincing evidence that the person being held has not complied or will not comply with appropriate treatment and contagion precautions as the department deems necessary, the court shall continue the court order for the person who has active tuberculosis until completion of therapy, as deemed by the department. The court shall order regular review of the order by providing the person under a court order with a subsequent hearing within ninety days of the court order's issuance and every ninety days thereafter. The court order shall be terminated and the person shall be released if:

(1) at a hearing, the petitioner has not met its burden of showing by clear and convincing proof that the person under a court order has not completed therapy; or

(2) exceptional circumstances exist warranting the termination of the court order.

J. The provisions of this section do not permit the forcible administration of medications.

K. A person isolated pursuant to this section has the right to refuse any medical treatment, physical or mental examination, treatment program or invasive specimen collection. A person who has been directed by the secretary to submit to medical procedures and protocols because the person has active tuberculosis and refuses to submit to the procedures and protocols may be subject to continued isolation pursuant to this section.

L. A person who is isolated pursuant to a court order may petition the court to contest the order or the conditions of isolation at any time prior to the expiration of the court order. If a petition is filed, the court shall hold a hearing within five business days after the date of filing. At a hearing pursuant to a petition to contest, the secretary shall offer:

(1) clear and convincing evidence that the isolation is warranted; or

(2) proof that the conditions of isolation are compliant with the provisions of this section.

M. When isolating a person or group of persons, the secretary shall ensure that:

(1) isolation is imposed by the least restrictive means necessary to protect against the spread of tuberculosis to others and may include confinement to the isolated person's private home, if practicable, or, if not practicable, a private or public premises;

(2) the health status of an isolated person is monitored regularly to determine if continued isolation is required;

(3) the needs of a person isolated are addressed in a systematic and orderly manner, including the provision of adequate food, clothing, shelter, sanitation and comfort;

(4) there are methods of communication available to a person placed in isolation to enable communication with family members, household members, legal representatives, advocates, the media and any licensed health care provider;

(5) the premises used for isolation are maintained in a manner that minimizes the likelihood of further transmission of infection or other injury to other persons who are isolated; and

(6) to the extent possible, cultural and religious beliefs shall be respected in addressing the needs of persons and establishing and maintaining isolation premises.

N. The proceedings of any hearing held pursuant to this section shall be recorded stenographically, electronically or mechanically or by other appropriate means. The proceedings shall be closed to the general public and the records shall be sealed from public inspection.

24-1-22. Scientific laboratory division; testing methods; certification.

A. The scientific laboratory division of the department of health is authorized to promulgate and approve satisfactory techniques or methods to test persons believed to be operating a motor vehicle or a motorboat under the influence of drugs or alcohol and to issue certification for test operators and their instructors that shall be subject to termination or revocation at the discretion of the scientific laboratory division. The scientific laboratory division is further authorized to establish or approve quality control measures for alcohol breath testing and to establish or approve standards of training necessary to ensure the qualifications of individuals conducting these analyses or collections.

B. The scientific laboratory division shall establish criteria and specifications for equipment, training, quality control, testing methodology, blood-breath relationships and the certification of operators, instructors and collectors of breath samples.

C. All laboratories analyzing breath, blood or urine samples pursuant to the provisions of the Implied Consent Act [66-8-105 through 66-8-112 NMSA 1978] and the Boating While Intoxicated Act [66-13-1 through 66-13-13 NMSA 1978] shall be certified by the scientific laboratory division. ANNOTATIONS

Failure to observe defendant for twenty minutes. — A breath alcohol test taken after the defendant was continuously observed for only fifteen minutes was not admissible in her criminal case for driving while intoxicated, because it did not comply with a department of health regulation requiring breath samples to be collected only after the subject has been under continuous observation for at least 20 minutes prior to collection of the first breath sample. State v. Gardner, 1998-NMCA-160, 126 N.M. 125, 967 P.2d 465, cert. denied, 126 N.M. 107, 967 P.2d 447.

Duty to make an accurate record. — The statutory duty of the state laboratory division to monitor and certify all blood-alcohol testing and to establish quality control measures by regulation imposes a duty on the state laboratory to make an accurate record of blood-alcohol test results that qualifies as a reliable business record. State v. Christian, 1995-NMCA-027, 119 N.M. 776, 895 P.2d 676, cert. denied, 119 N.M. 514, 892 P.2d 961.

Breath alcohol instruments treated differently than equipment for purposes of foundational requirements. — The legislature has delegated full authority to the scientific laboratory division (SLD) over the testing of persons believed to be DUI, including the establishment of criteria and specifications for equipment, quality control, testing methodology and standards, and the certification of breath alcohol instruments, operators, and instructors. SLD regulations impose extensive and explicit certification requirements on instruments, including that each individual instrument have a current certificate evidencing compliance with SLD regulations. In contrast, the only requirements for equipment stated in the regulations are that SLD approve and maintain a list of approved manufacturer's equipment. The regulations contain no requirement that SLD or certified instrument operators must confirm that each individual component of the breath alcohol instrument are SLD-approved before a breath alcohol test (BAT) is administered, and the regulations contain no indication that such individual confirmation is necessary to ensure the accuracy of the BAT result. State v. Hobbs, 2016-NMCA-022, cert. denied, 2016-NMCERT-002.

If no currently accepted guidelines are available, then rules issued by the board may serve the function of such guidelines for purposes of the Pain Relief Act. The board rules shall conform to the intent of that act. A. When a hospital refers an individual at or near death to a procurement organization, the organization shall make a reasonable search of the records of the motor vehicle division of the taxation and revenue department and any donor registry that it knows exists for the geographical area in which the individual resides to ascertain whether the individual has made an anatomical gift.

B. A procurement organization shall be allowed reasonable access to information in the records of the motor vehicle division of the taxation and revenue department to ascertain whether an individual at or near death is a donor.

C. When a hospital refers an individual at or near death to a procurement organization, the organization may conduct any reasonable examination necessary to ensure the medical suitability of a part that is or could be the subject of an anatomical gift for transplantation, therapy, research or education from a donor or a prospective donor. (2) "declaration" means a record signed by a prospective donor specifying the circumstances under which a life support system may be withheld or withdrawn from the prospective donor; and

(3) "health-care decision" means any decision made regarding the health care of the prospective donor.

B. If a prospective donor has a declaration or advance health-care directive, measures necessary to ensure the medical suitability of an organ for transplantation or therapy may not be withheld or withdrawn from the prospective donor, unless the declaration expressly provides to the contrary.

History: Laws 2007, ch. 323, § 21. Effective dates. — Laws 2007, ch. 323, § 36 made the Jonathan Spradling Revised Uniform Anatomical Gift Act effective July 1, 2007.

24-6B-22. Cooperation between office of the state medical investigator and procurement organization.

A. The office of the state medical investigator shall cooperate with procurement organizations to maximize the opportunity to recover anatomical gifts for the purpose of transplantation, therapy, research or education.

B. If the office of the state medical investigator receives notice from a procurement organization that an anatomical gift might be available or was made with respect to a decedent whose body is under the jurisdiction of the office of the state medical investigator and a post-mortem examination is going to be performed, unless the office of the state medical investigator denies recovery in accordance with Section 23 [24-6B-23 NMSA 1978] of the Jonathan Spradling Revised Uniform Anatomical Gift Act, the office of the state medical investigator or its designee shall conduct a post-mortem examination of the body or the part in a manner and within a period compatible with its preservation for the purposes of the anatomical gift.

C. A part may not be removed from the body of a decedent under the jurisdiction of the office of the state medical investigator for transplantation, therapy, research or education unless the part is the subject of an anatomical gift. The body of a decedent under the jurisdiction of the office of the state medical investigator may not be delivered to a person for research or education unless the body is the subject of an anatomical gift. This subsection does not preclude the office of the state medical investigator from performing the medico-legal investigation upon the body or parts of a decedent under the jurisdiction of the office of the state medical investigator.

24-6B-23. Facilitation of anatomical gift from decedent whose body is under jurisdiction of the office of the state medical investigator.

A. Upon request of a procurement organization, the office of the state medical investigator shall release to the procurement organization the name, contact information and available medical and social history of a decedent whose body is under the jurisdiction of the office of the state medical investigator. If the decedent's body or part is medically suitable for transplantation, therapy, research or education, the office of the state medical investigator shall release post-mortem examination results to the procurement organization. The procurement organization may make a subsequent disclosure of the post-mortem examination results or other information received from the office of the state medical investigator only if relevant to transplantation or therapy.

B. The office of the state medical investigator may conduct a medico-legal investigation by reviewing all medical records, laboratory test results, x-rays, other diagnostic results and other information that any person possesses about a donor or prospective donor whose body is under the jurisdiction of the office of the state medical investigator that the office of the state medical investigator determines may be relevant to the investigation.

C. A person that has any information requested by the office of the state medical investigator pursuant to Subsection B of this section shall provide that information as expeditiously as possible to allow the office of the state medical investigator to conduct the medico-legal investigation within a period compatible with the preservation of parts for the purpose of transplantation, therapy, research or education.

D. If an anatomical gift has been or might be made of a part of a decedent whose body is under the jurisdiction of the office of the state medical investigator and a post-mortem examination is not required, or the office of the state medical investigator determines that a post-mortem examination is required but that the recovery of the part that is the subject of an anatomical gift will not interfere with the examination, the office of the state medical investigator and the procurement organization shall cooperate in the timely removal of the part from the decedent for the purpose of transplantation, therapy, research or education.

E. If an anatomical gift of a part from the decedent under the jurisdiction of the office of the state medical investigator has been or might be made, but the office of the state medical investigator initially believes that the recovery of the part could interfere with the post-mortem investigation into the decedent's cause or manner of death, the office of the state medical investigator shall consult with the procurement organization or physician or technician designated by the procurement organization about the proposed recovery. After consultation, the office of the state medical investigator may allow the recovery.

F. Following the consultation pursuant to Subsection E of this section, in the absence of mutually agreed-upon protocols to resolve conflict between the office of the state medical investigator and the procurement organization, if the office of the state medical investigator intends to deny recovery, the office of the state medical investigator or its designee, at the request of the procurement organization, shall attend the removal procedure for the part before making a final determination not to allow the procurement organization to recover the part. During the removal procedure, the office of the state medical investigator or its designee may allow recovery by the procurement organization to proceed, or, if the office of the state medical investigator or its designee reasonably believes that the part may be involved in determining the decedent's cause or manner of death, may deny recovery by the procurement organization.

G. If the office of the state medical investigator or its designee denies recovery pursuant to Subsection F of this section, the office of the state medical investigator or its designee shall:

(1) explain in a record the specific reasons for not allowing recovery of the part;

(2) include the specific reasons in the records of the office of the state medical investigator; and

(3) provide a record with the specific reasons to the procurement organization.

H. If the office of the state medical investigator or its designee allows recovery of a part pursuant to Subsection D, E or F of this section, the procurement organization, upon request, shall cause the physician or technician who removes the part to provide the office of the state medical investigator with a record describing the condition of the part, a biopsy, a photograph and any other information and observations that would assist in the post-mortem examination.

I. If the office of the state medical investigator or its designee is required to be present at a removal procedure pursuant to Subsection F of this section, upon request the procurement organization requesting the recovery of the part shall reimburse the office of the state medical investigator or its designee for the additional costs incurred in complying with the provisions of Subsection F of this section.

If the individual cannot sign, a written revocation must be signed for the individual and be witnessed by two witnesses, each of whom has signed at the direction and in the presence of the individual and of each other.

B. An individual, while having capacity, may revoke all or part of an advance health-care directive, other than the designation of an agent, at any time and in any manner that communicates an intent to revoke.

C. A health-care provider, agent, guardian or surrogate who is informed of a revocation shall promptly communicate the fact of the revocation to the supervising health-care provider and to any health-care institution at which the patient is receiving care.

D. The filing of a petition for or a decree of annulment, divorce, dissolution of marriage or legal separation revokes a previous designation of a spouse as agent unless otherwise specified in the decree or in a power of attorney for health care. A designation revoked solely by this subsection is revived by the individual's remarriage to the former spouse, by a nullification of the divorce, annulment or legal separation or by the dismissal or withdrawal, with the individual's consent, of a petition seeking annulment, divorce, dissolution of marriage or legal separation.

E. An advance health-care directive that conflicts with an earlier advance health-care directive revokes the earlier directive to the extent of the conflict.

History: Laws 1995, ch. 182, § 3; 1997, ch. 168, § 2.

The 1997 amendment, effective July 1, 1997, in Subsection A, substituted "either" for "only" in the first sentence and added the second sentence.

writing used to create an advance health-care directive. An individual may complete or modify all or any part of the following form:

"OPTIONAL ADVANCE HEALTH-CARE DIRECTIVE

Explanation

You have the right to give instructions about your own health care. You also have the right to name someone else to make health-care decisions for you. This form lets you do either or both of these things. It also lets you express your wishes regarding the designation of your primary care practitioner.

THIS FORM IS OPTIONAL. Each paragraph and word of this form is also optional. If you use this form, you may cross out, complete or modify all or any part of it. You are free to use a different form. If you use this form, be sure to sign it and date it.

PART 1 of this form is a power of attorney for health care. PART 1 lets you name another individual as agent to make health-care decisions for you if you become incapable of making your own decisions or if you want someone else to make those decisions for you now even though you are still capable. You may also name an alternate agent to act for you if your first choice is not willing, able or reasonably available to make decisions for you. Unless related to you, your agent may not be an owner, operator or employee of a health-care institution at which you are receiving care.

Unless the form you sign limits the authority of your agent, your agent may make all health-care decisions for you. This form has a place for you to limit the authority of your agent. You need not limit the authority of your agent if you wish to rely on your agent for all health-care decisions that may have to be made. If you choose not to limit the authority of your agent, your agent will have the right to:

(a) consent or refuse consent to any care, treatment, service or procedure to maintain, diagnose or otherwise affect a physical or mental condition;
(b) select or discharge health-care practitioners and institutions;
(c) approve or disapprove diagnostic tests, surgical procedures, programs of medication and orders not to resuscitate; and
(d) direct the provision, withholding or withdrawal of artificial nutrition and hydration and all other forms of health care.

PART 2 of this form lets you give specific instructions about any aspect of your health care. Choices are provided for you to express your wishes regarding life-sustaining treatment, including the provision of artificial nutrition and hydration, as well as the provision of pain relief. In addition, you may express your wishes regarding whether you want to make an anatomical gift of some or all of your organs and tissue. Space is also provided for you to add to the choices you have made or for you to write out any additional wishes.

PART 3 of this form lets you designate a primary care practitioner to have primary responsibility for your health care.

After completing this form, sign and date the form at the end. It is recommended but not required that you request two other individuals to sign as witnesses. Give a copy of the signed and completed form to your physician, to any other health-care practitioners you may have, to any health-care institution at which you are receiving care and to any health-care agents you have named. You should talk to the person you have named as agent to make sure that he or she understands your wishes and is willing to take the responsibility.

You have the right to revoke this advance health-care directive or replace this form at any time.

24-7A-5. Decisions by surrogate.

A. A surrogate may make a health-care decision for a patient who is an adult or emancipated minor if the patient has been determined according to the provisions of Section 24-7A-11 NMSA 1978 to lack capacity and no agent or guardian has been appointed or the agent or guardian is not reasonably available.

B. An adult or emancipated minor, while having capacity, may designate any individual to act as surrogate by personally informing the supervising health-care provider. In the absence of a designation or if the designee is not reasonably available, any member of the following classes of the patient's family who is reasonably available, in descending order of priority, may act as surrogate:

(1) the spouse, unless legally separated or unless there is a pending petition for annulment, divorce, dissolution of marriage or legal separation;

(2) an individual in a long-term relationship of indefinite duration with the patient in which the individual has demonstrated an actual commitment to the patient similar to the commitment of a spouse and in which the individual and the patient consider themselves to be responsible for each other's well-being;

(3) an adult child;

(4) a parent;

(5) an adult brother or sister; or

(6) a grandparent.

C. If none of the individuals eligible to act as surrogate under Subsection B of this section is reasonably available, an adult who has exhibited special care and concern for the patient, who is familiar with the patient's personal values and who is reasonably available may act as surrogate.

D. A surrogate shall communicate his assumption of authority as promptly as practicable to the patient, to members of the patient's family specified in Subsection B of this section who can be readily contacted and to the supervising health-care provider.

E. If more than one member of a class assumes authority to act as surrogate and they do not agree on a health-care decision and the supervising health-care provider is so informed, the supervising health-care provider shall comply with the decision of a majority of the members of that class who have communicated their views to the provider. If the class is evenly divided concerning the health-care decision and the supervising health-care provider is so informed, that class and all individuals having lower priority are disqualified from making the decision.

F. A surrogate shall make a health-care decision in accordance with the patient's individual instructions, if any, and other wishes to the extent known to the surrogate. Otherwise, the surrogate shall make the decision in accordance with the surrogate's determination of the patient's best interest. In determining the patient's best interest, the surrogate shall consider the patient's personal values to the extent known to the surrogate.

G. A health-care decision made by a surrogate for a patient shall not be made solely on the basis of the patient's pre-existing physical or medical condition or pre-existing or projected disability.

H. A health-care decision made by a surrogate for a patient is effective without judicial approval.

I. A patient, at any time, may disqualify any person, including a member of the patient's family, from acting as the patient's surrogate by a signed writing or by personally informing a health-care provider of the disqualification. A health-care provider who is informed by the patient of a disqualification shall promptly communicate the fact of disqualification to the supervising health-care provider and to any health-care institution at which the patient is receiving care.

J. Unless related to the patient by blood, marriage or adoption, a surrogate may not be an owner, operator or employee of a health-care institution at which the patient is receiving care.

K. A supervising health-care provider may require an individual claiming the right to act as surrogate for a patient to provide a written declaration under penalty of perjury stating facts and circumstances reasonably sufficient to establish the claimed authority.

History: Laws 1995, ch. 182, § 5; 1997, ch. 168, § 4.

The 1997 amendment, effective July 1, 1997, added "and to the supervising health-care provider" at the end of Subsection D; added Subsection G; and made stylistic changes.

ANNOTATIONS

Conditions precedent for surrogate decisions. — Before a surrogate may make health-care decisions and enter into an agreement to admit a person who lacks capacity to a health-care institution, there must be a showing that the person was admitted based on the conclusions of two physicians that the person lacked capacity, and if there exists an individual with the express power to make health-care decisions on behalf of the person, there must be a showing of that individual's approval or unavailability before the surrogate may make health-care decisions. *Corum v. Conditions precedent for surrogate decisions. — Where the decedent was admitted into defendant's nursing home by the decedent's spouse; the decedent lacked capacity to enter into an admission agreement; the decedent's spouse signed an admission agreement that contained an arbitration clause; the decedent's spouse had no written authority designating the spouse as an agent with power of attorney, guardian, or surrogate; at the time the decedent's spouse signed the admission agreement, the decedent's child had durable financial and medical power of attorney over the decedent; the administrator of the nursing home attempted to telephone the decedent's child, but was unsuccessful; and there was no indication that two physicians had determined that the decedent lacked capacity at the time the decedent's spouse signed the admission agreement, the decedent's spouse did not have power to enter into the arbitration agreement. *Corum v. ## 24-7A-6. Decisions by guardian.

A. A guardian shall comply with the protected person's individual instructions made while the protected person had capacity and shall not disregard the protected person's preferences contained in an advance health-care directive unless the appointing court expressly so authorizes after notice to the agent, if any, and the protected person. The court may disregard such preferences if it finds by clear and convincing evidence that the preferences do not accurately reflect the free choice of the protected person at the time of making the individual instructions or that the protected person revoked the individual instructions while the protected person had capacity pursuant to Subsection B of Section 24-7A-3 NMSA 1978. This provision does not affect the court's ability to grant relief pursuant to a petition as provided in Section 24-7A-14 NMSA 1978.

B. A health-care decision of an agent appointed by a person having capacity takes precedence over that of a guardian, unless the appointing court expressly directs otherwise after notice to the agent and the protected person.

C. Subject to the provisions of Subsections A and B of this section, a health-care decision made by a guardian for the protected person is effective without judicial approval, if the appointing court has expressly authorized the guardian to make health-care decisions for the protected person, in accordance with the provisions of Section 45-5-312 NMSA 1978, after notice to the protected person and any agent.

History: Laws 1995, ch. 182, § 6; 2009, ch. 159, § 2.

The 2009 amendment, effective June 19, 2009, changed "ward" to "protected person"; and in Subsection A, between "shall comply with the" and "advance health-care directive", changed "ward's individual instructions and may not revoke the ward's" to "protected person's individual instructions made while the protected person had capacity and shall not disregard the protected person's preferences contained in an"; and added the second and third sentences.

24-7A-6.1. Life-sustaining treatment for unemancipated minors.

A. Except as otherwise provided by law, a parent or guardian of an unemancipated minor may make that minor's health-care decisions.

B. A parent or guardian of an unemancipated minor shall have the authority to withhold or withdraw life-sustaining treatment for the unemancipated minor, subject to the provisions of this section and the standards for surrogate decision-making for adults provided for in the Uniform Health-Care Decisions Act.

C. Subject to the provisions of Subsection B of this section, if an unemancipated minor has capacity sufficient to understand the nature of that unemancipated minor's medical condition, the risks and benefits of treatment and the contemplated decision to withhold or withdraw life-sustaining treatment, that unemancipated minor shall have the authority to withhold or withdraw life-sustaining treatment.

D. For purposes of Subsection C of this section, a determination of the mental and emotional capacity of an unemancipated minor shall be determined by two qualified health-care professionals, one of whom shall be the unemancipated minor's primary care practitioner and the other of whom shall be a health-care practitioner that works with unemancipated minors of the minor's age in the ordinary course of that health-care practitioner's practice. If the unemancipated minor lacks capacity due to mental illness or developmental disability, one of the qualified health-care professionals shall be a person whose training and expertise aid in the assessment of functional impairment.

E. If the unemancipated minor's primary care practitioner has reason to believe that a parent or guardian of an unemancipated minor, including a non-custodial parent, has not been informed of a decision to withhold or withdraw life-sustaining treatment, the primary care practitioner shall make reasonable efforts to determine if the uninformed parent or guardian has maintained substantial and continuous contact with the unemancipated minor and, if so, shall make reasonable efforts to notify that parent or guardian before implementing a decision.

F. If there is disagreement regarding the decision to withhold or withdraw life-sustaining treatment for an unemancipated minor, the provisions of Section 24-7A-11 NMSA 1978 shall apply.

History: Laws 1997, ch. 168, § 13; 2009, ch. 220, § 2; 2015, ch. 116, § 6.

The 2015 amendment, effective June 19, 2015, amended the Uniform Health-Care Decisions Act provision, relating to life-sustaining treatment of unemancipated minors, by substituting each reference to "primary physician" with "primary care practitioner"; in Subsection D, after "minor's primary", deleted "physician" and added "care practitioner", after "whom shall be a", deleted "physician" and added "health-care practitioner", after "ordinary course of that", deleted "physician's" and after "health-care", added "practitioner's"; and in Subsection E, after "minor's primary", deleted "physician" and added "care practitioner", and after "the primary", deleted "physician" and added "care practitioner".

The 2009 amendment, effective June 19, 2009, deleted former Subsection G, which defined "unemancipated minor".

24-7A-6.2. Consent to health care for certain minors fourteen years of age or older.

A. An unemancipated minor fourteen years of age or older who has capacity to consent may give consent for medically necessary health care; provided that the minor is:

(1) living apart from the minor's parents or legal guardian; or

(2) the parent of a child.

B. For purposes of this section, "medically necessary health care" means clinical and rehabilitative, physical, mental or behavioral health services that are:

© 2022 State of New Mexico. New Mexico Compilation Commission. All rights reserved.

(1) essential to prevent, diagnose or treat medical conditions or that are essential to enable an unemancipated minor to attain, maintain or regain functional capacity;

(2) delivered in the amount and setting with the duration and scope that is clinically appropriate to the specific physical, mental and behavioral health-care needs of the minor;

(3) provided within professionally accepted standards of practice and national guidelines; and

(4) required to meet the physical, mental and behavioral health needs of the minor, but not primarily required for convenience of the minor, health-care provider or payer.

C. The consent of the unemancipated minor to examination or treatment pursuant to this section shall not be disaffirmed because of minority.

D. The parent or legal guardian of an unemancipated minor who receives medically necessary health care is not liable for payment for those services unless the parent or legal guardian has consented to such medically necessary health care; provided that the provisions of this subsection do not relieve a parent or legal guardian of liability for payment for emergency health care provided to an unemancipated minor.

E. A health-care provider or a health-care institution shall not be liable for reasonably relying on statements made by an unemancipated minor that the minor is eligible to give consent pursuant to Subsection A of this section.

F. Nothing in this section shall otherwise limit the rights of an unemancipated minor to consent to treatment, nor shall this section be read to conflict with the rights of parents and children pursuant to the Children's Mental Health and Developmental Disabilities Act [32A-6A-1 through 32A-6A-30 NMSA 1978].

History: 1978 Comp., § 24-7A-6.2, as enacted by Laws 2009, ch. 220, § 3.

Effective dates. — Laws 2009, ch. 220 contained no effective date provision, but, pursuant to N.M. Const., art. IV, § 23, was effective June 19, 2009, 90 days after the adjournment of the legislature.

24-7A-7. Obligations of health-care practitioner.

A. Before implementing a health-care decision made for a patient, a supervising health-care practitioner shall promptly communicate to the patient the decision made and the identity of the person making the decision.

B. A supervising health-care practitioner who knows of the existence of an advance health-care directive, a revocation of an advance health-care directive, a challenge to a determination of lack of capacity or a designation or disqualification of a surrogate shall promptly record its existence in the patient's health-care record and, if it is in writing, shall request a copy and, if one is furnished, shall arrange for its maintenance in the health-care record.

C. A supervising health-care practitioner who makes or is informed of a determination that a patient lacks or has recovered capacity or that another condition exists that affects an individual instruction or the authority of an agent, guardian or surrogate shall promptly record the determination in the patient's health-care record and communicate the determination to the patient and to any person then authorized to make health-care decisions for the patient.

D. Except as provided in Subsections E and F of this section, a health-care practitioner or health-care institution providing care to a patient shall comply:

(1) before and after the patient is determined to lack capacity, with an individual instruction of the patient made while the patient had capacity;

(2) with a reasonable interpretation of the individual instruction made by a person then authorized to make health-care decisions for the patient; and

(3) with a health-care decision for the patient that is not contrary to an individual instruction of the patient and is made by a person then authorized to make health-care decisions for the patient, to the same extent as if the decision had been made by the patient while having capacity.

E. A health-care practitioner may decline to comply with an individual instruction or health-care decision for reasons of conscience. A health-care institution may decline to comply with an individual instruction or health-care decision if the instruction or decision is contrary to a policy of the health-care institution that is expressly based on reasons of conscience and if the policy was timely communicated to the patient or to a person then authorized to make health-care decisions for the patient.

F. A health-care practitioner or health-care institution may decline to comply with an individual instruction or health-care decision that requires medically ineffective health care or health care contrary to generally accepted health-care standards applicable to the health-care practitioner or health-care institution. "Medically ineffective health care" means treatment that would not offer the patient any significant benefit, as determined by a health-care practitioner.

G. A health-care practitioner or health-care institution that declines to comply with an individual instruction or health-care decision shall:

(1) promptly so inform the patient, if possible, and any person then authorized to make health-care decisions for the patient;

(2) provide continuing care to the patient until a transfer can be effected; and

(3) unless the patient or person then authorized to make health-care decisions for the patient refuses assistance, immediately make all reasonable efforts to assist in the transfer of the patient to another health-care practitioner or health-care institution that is willing to comply with the individual instruction or decision.

H. A health-care practitioner or health-care institution may not require or prohibit the execution or revocation of an advance health-care directive as a condition for providing health care.

I. The Uniform Health-Care Decisions Act does not require or permit a health-care institution or health-care practitioner to provide any type of health care for which the health-care institution or health-care practitioner is not licensed, certified or otherwise authorized or permitted by law to provide.

History: Laws 1995, ch. 182, § 7; 1997, ch. 168, § 5; 2015, ch. 116, § 7.

The 2015 amendment, effective June 19, 2015, amended the Uniform Health-Care Decisions Act provision relating to the obligations of health-care practitioners; substituted each reference to "health-care provider" with "health-care practitioner" throughout the section; in Paragraph (2) of Subsection D, after "interpretation of", deleted "that" and added "the individual"; in Subsection F, after "as determined by a", deleted "physician" and added "health-care practitioner"; and in Paragraph (3) of Subsection G, after "willing to comply with the", added "individual".

24-7A-10. Statutory damages.

A. A health-care provider or health-care institution that intentionally violates the Uniform Health-Care Decisions Act is subject to liability to the aggrieved individual for damages of five thousand dollars ($5,000) or actual damages resulting from the violation, whichever is greater, plus reasonable attorney fees.

B. A person who intentionally falsifies, forges, conceals, defaces or obliterates an individual's advance health-care directive or a revocation of an advance health-care directive without the individual's consent or a person who coerces or fraudulently induces an individual to give, revoke or not give or revoke an advance health-care directive is subject to liability to that individual for damages of five thousand dollars ($5,000) or actual damages resulting from the action, whichever is greater, plus reasonable attorney fees.

C. The damages provided in this section are in addition to other types of relief available under other law, including civil and criminal law and law providing for disciplinary procedures.

24-7A-11. Capacity.

B. An individual is presumed to have capacity to make a health-care decision, to give or revoke an advance health-care directive and to designate a surrogate.

C. Unless otherwise specified in a written advance health-care directive, a determination that an individual lacks or has recovered capacity or that another condition exists that affects an individual instruction or the authority of an agent shall be made by two qualified health-care professionals, one of whom shall be the primary care practitioner. If the lack of capacity is determined to exist because of mental illness or developmental disability, one of the qualified health-care professionals shall be a person whose training and expertise aid in the assessment of functional impairment.

D. An individual shall not be determined to lack capacity solely on the basis that the individual chooses not to accept the treatment recommended by a health-care practitioner.

E. An individual, at any time, may challenge a determination that the individual lacks capacity by a signed writing or by personally informing a health-care practitioner of the challenge. A health-care practitioner who is informed by the individual of a challenge shall promptly communicate the fact of the challenge to the supervising health-care practitioner and to any health-care institution at which the individual is receiving care. Such a challenge shall prevail unless otherwise ordered by the court in a proceeding brought pursuant to the provisions of Section 24-7A-14 NMSA 1978.

Temporary provisions. — Laws 2015, ch. 116, § 16 provided that by January 1, 2016, every cabinet secretary, agency head and head of a political subdivision of the state shall update rules requiring an examination by, a certificate from or a statement of a licensed physician to also accept such examination, certificate or statement from an advanced practice registered nurse, certified nurse-midwife or physician assistant working within that person's scope of practice.

24-7A-12. Effect of copy.

History: Laws 1995, ch. 182, § 12.

"Governing instrument" means a deed, will, trust, insurance or annuity policy, account with POD (payment on death designation), security registered in beneficiary form (TOD), pension, profit-sharing, retirement, employment or similar benefit plan, instrument creating or exercising a power of appointment or a dispositive, appointive or nominative instrument of any similar type.

C. The Uniform Health-Care Decisions Act does not authorize mercy killing, assisted suicide, euthanasia or the provision, withholding or withdrawal of health care, to the extent prohibited by other statutes of this state.

D. The Uniform Health-Care Decisions Act does not authorize or require a health-care provider or health-care institution to provide health care contrary to generally accepted health-care standards applicable to the health-care provider or health-care institution.

E. The Uniform Health-Care Decisions Act does not authorize an agent or surrogate to consent to the admission of an individual to a mental health-care facility. If the individual's written advance health-care directive expressly permits treatment in a mental health-care facility, the agent or surrogate may present the individual to a facility for evaluation for admission.

F. The Uniform Health-Care Decisions Act does not affect other statutes of this state governing treatment for mental illness of an individual admitted to a mental health-care institution.

History: Laws 1995, ch. 182, § 13; 1997, ch. 168, § 8.

The Uniform Health-Care Decisions Act shall be applied and construed to effectuate its general purpose to make uniform the law with respect to the subject matter of that act among states enacting it.

History: Laws 1995, ch. 182, § 15.

24-7A-16. Transitional provisions.

A. An advance health-care directive is valid for purposes of the Uniform Health-Care Decisions Act if it complies with the provisions of that act, regardless of when or where executed or communicated.

B. The Uniform Health-Care Decisions Act does not impair a guardianship, living will, durable power of attorney, right-to-die statement or declaration or other advance directive for health-care decisions that is in effect before July 1, 1995.

C. Any advance directive, durable power of attorney for heath care decisions, living will, right-to-die statement or declaration or similar document that is executed in another state or jurisdiction in compliance with the laws of that state or jurisdiction shall be deemed valid and enforceable in this state to the same extent as if it were properly made in this state.

24-7A-18. Severability.

If any provision of the Uniform Health-Care Decisions Act or its application to any person or circumstance is held invalid, the invalidity does not affect other provisions or applications of that act which can be given effect without the invalid provision or application, and to this end the provisions of that act are severable.

A revocation of a power of attorney for mental health treatment shall not affect the validity of a power of attorney.

B. A principal may designate a capable person eighteen years of age or older to act as an agent to make mental health treatment decisions. An alternative agent may also be designated to act as an agent if the original agent is unable or unwilling to act at any time. alternative agent, if any, or, if none, to the attending qualified health care professional or health care provider. The primary health care professional or health care provider shall note the withdrawal of the last named agent as part of the principal's medical record.

E. An advance directive for mental health treatment may be executed by using the following optional form, completed or modified to the extent desired by the individual, and the form may be notarized:

"ADVANCE DIRECTIVE FOR MENTAL HEALTH TREATMENT

I, _____, being a person with capacity, willfully and voluntarily make known my wishes about mental health treatment, by my instructions to others through my advance directive for mental health treatment, or by my appointment of an agent, or both. If a guardian or an agent is appointed to make mental health decisions for me, I intend this document to take precedence over other means of ascertaining my wishes and interests.

The fact that I may have left blanks in this directive does not affect its validity in any way. I intend that all completed sections be followed. I intend this directive to take precedence over any other mental health directives I have previously executed, to the extent that they are inconsistent with this document, or unless I expressly state otherwise in either document.

I understand that I may revoke this directive in whole or in part if I am a person with capacity. I understand that I cannot revoke this directive if one qualified health care professional and one mental health treatment provider find that I am an incapacitated person, unless I successfully challenge the determination of incapacity.

I understand there are some circumstances where my provider may not have to follow my directive, specifically, if the treatment requested in this directive is infeasible or unavailable, the facility or provider is not licensed or authorized to provide the treatment requested or the directive conflicts with other applicable law.

24-7B-8. Decisions by guardian.

A. A guardian shall comply with the protected person's individual instructions made while the protected person had capacity and may not disregard the protected person's preferences contained in an advance directive for mental health treatment unless the appointing court expressly so authorizes after notice to the agent, if any, and the protected person. The court may disregard such preferences if it finds by clear and convincing evidence that the preferences do not accurately reflect the free choice of the protected person at the time of making the individual instructions or that the protected person revoked the individual instructions while the protected person had capacity pursuant to Subsection B of Section 24-7A-3 NMSA 1978.

B. A mental health treatment decision of an agent appointed by an individual having capacity takes precedence over that of a guardian, unless the appointing court expressly directs otherwise after notice to the agent and the protected person.

C. Subject to the provisions of Subsections A and B of this section, a mental health treatment decision made by a guardian for the protected person is effective without judicial approval, if the appointing court has expressly authorized the guardian to make mental health treatment decisions for the protected person, in accordance with the provisions of Sections 43-1-15 or 45-5-312 NMSA 1978, after notice to the protected person and any agent.

A. The legislature finds that:

(1) family planning has been recognized as an essential component of standard health care and has been recognized nationally and internationally as a universal human right;

(3) family planning services are not available as a practical matter to many persons in this state;

(4) it is desirable that family planning services be readily accessible to all who want and need them; and

B. It is the purpose of the Family Planning Act to assure that comprehensive family planning services are accessible on a voluntary basis to all who want and need them.

Temporary provisions. — Laws 2015, ch. 116, § 16 provided that by January 1, 2016, every cabinet secretary, agency head and head of a political subdivision of the state shall update rules requiring an examination by, a certificate from or a statement of a licensed physician to also accept such examination, certificate or statement from an advanced practice registered nurse, certified nurse-midwife or physician assistant working within that person's scope of practice.

24-8-5. Prohibition against imposition of standards and requirements as prerequisites for receipt of requested family planning services.

Neither the state, its local governmental units nor any health facility furnishing family planning services shall subject any person to any standard or requirement as a prerequisite to the receipt of any requested family planning service except for:

Sections 1 through 7 [24-10C-1 through 24-10C-7 NMSA 1978] of this act may be cited as the "Cardiac Arrest Response Act".

24-10C-2. Findings and purpose.

A. The legislature finds that:

(1) each year more than three hundred fifty thousand Americans die from out-of-hospital sudden cardiac arrest;

(2) the American heart association estimates that more than twenty thousand deaths could be prevented each year if early defibrillation were more widely available. In cardiac arrest the first several minutes are the most crucial time in which performing defibrillation can significantly improve chances for survival;

(3) the reality is that even in the best emergency medical services systems, emergency medical technicians or first responders may not always be able to arrive during that critical window of time; and

(4) virtually all communities in New Mexico have invested in 911 emergency response systems, emergency medical personnel and ambulance vehicles. However, many of them do not have enough defibrillators in their community [communities].

B. It is the purpose of the Cardiac Arrest Response Act to encourage greater acquisition, deployment and use of automated external defibrillators in communities across the state.

24-15-2. Purpose of act.

A. In order to safeguard life, health, property and the welfare of this state, it is the policy of New Mexico to protect its citizens and visitors from unnecessary hazards in the operation of ski lifts and passenger aerial tramways and to require liability insurance to be carried by operators of ski lifts and tramways. The primary responsibility for the safety of operation, maintenance, repair and inspection of ski lifts and tramways rests with the operators of such devices. The primary responsibility for the safety of the individual skier while engaging in the sport of skiing rests with the skier himself. The state, through the Ski Safety Act, recognizes these responsibilities and duties on the part of the ski area operator and the skier.

B. It is recognized that there are inherent risks in the sport of skiing, which should be understood by each skier and which are essentially impossible to eliminate by the ski area operator. It is the purpose of the Ski Safety Act to define those areas of responsibility and affirmative acts for which ski area operators shall be liable for loss, damage or injury and those risks which the skier or passenger expressly assumes and for which there can be no recovery.

History: 1953 Comp., § 12-16-2, enacted by Laws 1969, ch. 218, § 2; recompiled as 1953 Comp., § 12-28-2, by Laws 1972, ch. 51, § 9; 1979, ch. 279, § 2; 1997, ch. 211, § 1.

The 1997 amendment, effective June 20, 1997, designated the existing paragraphs as Subsections A and B, respectively, and inserted "or passenger" following "skier" near the end of Subsection B.

24-15-5. Penalty.

Any operator convicted of operating a ski lift or aerial passenger tramway without having obtained and kept in force an insurance policy as required by the Ski Safety Act is guilty of a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of not more than five hundred dollars ($500) for each day of illegal operation. The attorney general or the district attorney of the county where the ski area is located has the power to bring proceedings in the district court of the county in which the ski area is located to enjoin the operation of any ski lift or tramway being operated without a current insurance policy, in the amounts prescribed herein, being obtained and kept in force and covering the operator concerned.

24-15-6. Provisions in lieu of others.

Provisions of the Ski Safety Act are in lieu of all other regulations, registration or licensing requirements for ski areas, ski lifts and tramways. Ski lifts and tramways shall not be construed to be common carriers within the meaning of the laws of New Mexico.

History: 1953 Comp., § 12-16-6, enacted by Laws 1969, ch. 218, § 6; recompiled as 1953 Comp., § 12-28-6, by Laws 1972, ch. 51, § 9.

ANNOTATIONS

Skier as third party beneficiary of permit between United States and ski resort. — The dismissal of an injured skier's claim that she was a third party beneficiary under the terms of the permit between the United States and the ski resort was proper since the Ski Safety Act provided the exclusive remedy available to the skier. Kidd v. Taos Ski Valley, Inc., 88 F.3d 848 (10th Cir. 1996).

24-15-7. Duties of ski area operators with respect to skiing areas.

Every ski area operator shall have the following duties with respect to the operation of a skiing area:

A. to mark all snow-maintenance vehicles and to furnish such vehicles with flashing or rotating lights, which shall be in operation whenever the vehicles are working or are in movement in the skiing area;

B. to mark with a visible sign or other warning implement the location of any hydrant or similar equipment used in snow-making operations and located on ski slopes and trails;

C. to mark in a plainly visible manner the top or entrance to each slope, trail or area with the appropriate symbol for its relative degree of difficulty, using the symbols established or approved by the national ski areas association; and those slopes, trails or areas which are closed, or portions of which present an unusual obstacle or hazard, shall be marked at the top or entrance or at the point of the obstacle or hazard with the appropriate symbols as are established or approved by the national ski areas association or by the New Mexico ski area operators association;

D. to maintain one or more trail boards at prominent locations at each ski area displaying that area's network of ski trails and slopes with each trail and slope rated in accordance with the symbols and containing a key to the symbols;

E. to designate by trail board or otherwise at the top of or entrance to the subject trail or slope which trails or slopes are open or closed;

F. to place or cause to be placed, whenever snow-maintenance vehicles or snow-making operations are being undertaken upon any trail or slope while such trail or slope is open to the public, a conspicuous notice to that effect at or near the top or entrance of such trail or slope;

G. to provide ski patrol personnel trained in first aid, which training meets at least the requirements of the national ski patrol outdoor emergency care course, and also trained in winter rescue and toboggan handling to serve the anticipated number of injured skiers and to provide personnel trained for the evacuation of passengers from stalled aerial ski lifts. A first aid room or building shall be provided with adequate first aid supplies, and properly equipped rescue toboggans shall be made available at all reasonable times at the top of ski slopes and trails to transport injured skiers from the ski slopes and trails to the first aid room;

H. to post notice of the requirements of the Ski Safety Act concerning the use of ski retention devices;

I. to warn of or correct particular hazards or dangers known to the operator where feasible to do so; and

J. to warn of snowmobiles or all-terrain vehicles (ATV's) operated on the ski slopes or trails with at least one lighted headlamp, one lighted red tail lamp, a brake system and a fluorescent flag that is at least forty square inches and is mounted at least six feet above the bottom of the tracks or tires.

History: Laws 1969, ch. 218, § 7; 1953 Comp., § 12-16-7; recompiled as 1953 Comp., § 12-28-7 by Laws 1972, ch. 51, § 9; 1979, ch. 279, § 4; 1997, ch. 211, § 5.

The 1997 amendment, effective June 20, 1997, rewrote Subsection C, inserted "at the top of or entrance to the subject trail or slope" in Subsection E, inserted "or entrance" near the end of Subsection F, substituted "meets at least the requirements of the national ski patrol outdoor emergency care course" for "meets the requirements of the American Red Cross advanced first aid course" near the beginning of Subsection G, added Subsection J, and made minor stylistic changes in Subsections H and I.

ANNOTATIONS

Duty to provide warning to skiers of the degree of difficulty of ski slopes or the existence of unusual obstacles or hazards located in skiing areas, imposed under Subsections C and I, may assume additional significance as the difficulty of the skiing area becomes more pronounced, or the degree of danger posed by the risk of collision with an unprotected ski tower located in the designated skiing area increases. Lopez v. Ski Apache Resort, 1992-NMCA-047, 114 N.M. 202, 836 P.2d 648, cert. denied, 113 N.M. 815, 833 P.2d 1181.

Duty to warn. — A ski resort did not breach its duty to warn under this section when it installed a single strand diversionary rope and blocked off an otherwise skiable area since the evidence was that the rope had been in place for at least 12 years and over one million skiers had managed to ski past it without injury. Kidd v. Taos Ski Valley, Inc., 88 F.3d 848 (10th Cir. 1996).

Conspicuous warnings not required. — The Ski Safety Act does not require the trail warnings of unusual obstacles or hazards to be conspicuous. Barba v. Taos Ski Valley, Inc., 145 F.3d 1345 (10th Cir. 1998).

Duties for ski operators. — This section, not 24-15-2 NMSA 1978, sets out the specific duties for ski operators in a skiing area. Barba v. Taos Ski Valley, Inc., 145 F.3d 1345 (10th Cir. 1998).

Warning adequate. — Where the uncontroverted evidence was that Taos did not "know" that the picnic table near ski trail was a hazard because it had been at that same location for more than twenty years and no one had collided with it, the trail map board marking the location of the picnic table on the ski run and the sign warning of unmarked obstacles were adequate under the standards of the National Ski Areas Association, and, therefore, under the Ski Safety Act. Barba v. Taos Ski Valley, Inc., 1998 Colo. J. C.A.R. 2324, (10th Cir. 1998), decision without published opinion, 145 F.3d 1345 (10th Cir. 1998).

"Warn or correct" hazards. — Where skier was injured by colliding with picnic table while skiing and argued that rather than warn of the picnic table, the operator should have corrected the hazard, the plain language of the Ski Safety Act specifically states that the operator must "warn or correct" hazards. Barba v. Taos Ski Valley, Inc., 1998 Colo. J. C.A.R. 2324, (10th Cir. 1998), decision without published opinion, 145 F.3d 1345 (10th Cir. 1998).

Doctrine of comparative negligence is applicable to claims brought under the act where both the skier and the ski area operator are alleged to have breached statutory duties. Lopez v. Ski Apache Resort, 1992-NMCA-047, 114 N.M. 202, 836 P.2d 648, cert. denied, 113 N.M. 815, 833 P.2d 1181.

General duty to novice skier. — The scope of the duty imposed on ski operations in Subsection I of this section was not broad enough to encompass the duty to provide a general warning to a novice skier that, because of the skier's limited abilities, portions of a beginner slope may have been dangerous. Philippi v. Sipapu, Inc., 961 F.2d 1492 (10th Cir. 1992).

24-15-8. Duties of ski area operators with respect to ski lifts.

Every ski area operator shall have the duty to operate, repair and maintain all ski lifts in safe condition. The ski area operator, prior to December 1 of each year, shall certify to the state corporation commission [public regulation commission] the policy number and name of the company providing liability insurance for the ski area and the date of the ski lift inspections and the name of the person making such inspections.

B. drop, throw or expel any object from a ski lift;

D. use any ski lift unless the passenger has the ability to use it safely without any instruction on its use by the ski area operator or requests and receives instruction before boarding the ski lift;

E. willfully or negligently engage in any type of conduct which contributes to or causes injury to any person;

F. embark on a ski lift without the authority of the ski area operator;

G. use any ski lift without engaging such safety or restraining devices as may be provided; or

H. wear skis without properly securing ski retention devices; or

I. use a ski lift while intoxicated or under the influence of any controlled substance.

24-15-10. Duties of the skiers.

A. It is recognized that skiing as a recreational sport is inherently hazardous to skiers, and it is the duty of each skier to conduct himself carefully.

B. A person who takes part in the sport of skiing accepts as a matter of law the dangers inherent in that sport insofar as they are obvious and necessary. Each skier expressly assumes the risk of and legal responsibility for any injury to person or property which results from participation in the sport of skiing, in the skiing area, including any injury caused by the following: variations in terrain; surface or subsurface snow or ice conditions; bare spots; rocks, trees or other forms of forest growth or debris; lift towers and components thereof, pole lines and snow-making equipment which are plainly visible or are plainly marked in accordance with the provisions of Section 24-15-7 NMSA 1978; except for any injuries to persons or property resulting from any breach of duty imposed upon ski area operators under the provisions of Sections 24-15-7 and 24-15-8 NMSA 1978. Therefore, each skier shall have the sole individual responsibility for knowing the range of his own ability to negotiate any slope or trail, and it shall be the duty of each skier to ski within the limits of the skier's own ability, to maintain reasonable control of speed and course at all times while skiing, to heed all posted warnings, to ski only on a skiing area designated by the ski area operator and to refrain from acting in a manner which may cause or contribute to the injury of anyone.

C. Responsibility for collisions by any skier while actually skiing, with any person or object, shall be solely that of each individual involved in the collision, except where an employee, agent or officer of the ski area operator is personally involved in a collision while in the course and scope of his employment or where a collision resulted from any breach of duty imposed upon a ski area operator under the provisions of Sections 24-15-7 or 24-15-8 NMSA 1978. Each skier has the duty to stay clear of and avoid collisions with snow-maintenance equipment, all-terrain vehicles and snowmobiles marked in compliance with the provisions of Subsections A and J of Section 24-15-7 NMSA 1978, all other vehicles, lift towers, signs and any other structures, amenities or equipment on the ski slopes and trails or in the skiing area.

D. No person shall:

(1) place any object in the skiing area or on the uphill track of any ski lift which may cause a passenger or skier to fall;

(2) cross the track of any T-bar lift, J-bar lift, platter lift or similar device or a fiber rope tow, except at a designated location;

(3) when injured while skiing or using a ski lift or, while skiing, when involved in a collision with any skier or object in which an injury results, leave the ski area before giving his name and current address to the ski area operator, or representative or employee of the ski area operator, and the location where the injury or collision occurred and the circumstances thereof; provided, however, in the event a skier fails to give the notice required by this paragraph, a court, in determining whether or not such failure constitutes a violation of the Ski Safety Act, may consider the reasonableness or feasibility of giving such notice; or

(4) use a ski lift, skiing area, slopes or trails while intoxicated or under the influence of any controlled substance.

E. No skier shall fail to wear retention straps or other ski retention devices to help prevent runaway skis.

F. Any skier upon being injured shall indicate, to the ski patrol personnel offering first aid treatment or emergency removal to a first aid room, his acceptance or rejection of such services as provided by the ski area operator. If such service is not refused or if the skier is unable to indicate his acceptance or rejection of such service, the acceptance of the service is presumed to have been accepted by the skier. Such acceptance shall not constitute a waiver of any action for negligent provision of the service by the ski patrol personnel.

History: 1978 Comp., § 24-15-10, enacted by Laws 1979, ch. 279, § 7; 1997, ch. 211, § 6.

The 1997 amendment, effective June 20, 1997, deleted the former fourth sentence of Subsection B relating to responsibilities for collisions by skiers, added Subsection C and redesignated the remaining subsections accordingly, and inserted "skiing area, slopes or trails" in Paragraph D(4).

ANNOTATIONS

Failure of a skier to give notice of her alleged injury to the ski lift operator was not a proper ground for summary judgment for the operator, where there was no evidence that any alleged failure of the skier to comply with the provisions of this section was causally related to the loss or damage claimed by the skier. Wood v. Angel Fire Ski Corp., 1989-NMCA-021, 108 N.M. 453, 774 P.2d 447.

Doctrine of comparative negligence. — The doctrine of comparative negligence is applicable to claims brought under the Act where both the skier and the ski area operator are alleged to have breached statutory duties. Lopez v. Ski Apache Resort, 1992-NMCA-047, 114 N.M. 202, 836 P.2d 648, cert. denied, 113 N.M. 815, 833 P.2d 1181.

24-15-11. Liability of ski area operators.

Any ski area operator shall be liable for loss or damages caused by the failure to follow the duties set forth in Sections 24-15-7 and 24-15-8 NMSA 1978 where the violation of duty is causally related to the loss or damage suffered, and shall continue to be subject to liability in accordance with common-law principles of vicarious liability for the willful or negligent actions of its principals, agents or employees which cause injury to a passenger, skier or other person. The ski area operator shall not be liable to any passenger or skier acting in violation of his duties as set forth in Sections 24-15-9 and 24-15-10 NMSA 1978 where the violation of duty is causally related to the loss or damage suffered.

History: 1978 Comp., § 24-15-11, enacted by Laws 1979, ch. 279, § 8.

ANNOTATIONS

Failure to stop ski lift. — Genuine issue of material fact, precluding summary judgment, existed concerning whether, despite any alleged negligence attributable to a skier, the ski lift operator negligently failed to stop the ski lift once he became aware that the skier had just disembarked from the ski lift, was unable to move, and was in a position of peril. *Wood v. A. Unless a ski area operator is in violation of the Ski Safety Act, with respect to the skiing area and ski lifts, and the violation is a proximate cause of the injury complained of, no action shall lie against such ski area operator by any skier or passenger or any representative of a skier or passenger. This prohibition shall not prevent the bringing of an action against a ski area operator for damages arising from injuries caused by negligent operation, maintenance or repair of the ski lift.

24-16-2. Declaration of policy and intent; public health.

The legislature finds and declares that the smoking of tobacco, or any other weed or plant, is a positive danger to health and a health hazard to those who are present in enclosed places and that smoking in such areas should be confined to designated smoking areas. The legislature further declares its intention to protect the public health from such hazards in public places and places of employment without imposing exorbitant costs on persons in management and control of the places subject to the [Dee Johnson] Clean Indoor Air Act. It is not the intent of the legislature to preempt the field of regulation of smoking in public from the enactment of ordinances by local governing bodies which are not inconsistent with the [Dee Johnson] Clean Indoor Air Act.

The 2007 amendment, effective June 15, 2007, changed the statutory reference to the act.

24-25-2. Findings and purpose.

A. The legislature finds that:

(1) lack of primary care, specialty providers and transportation continue to be significant barriers to access to health services in medically underserved rural areas;

(2) there are parts of this state where it is difficult to attract and retain health professionals, as well as to support local health facilities in providing a continuum of health care;

(3) many health care providers in medically underserved areas are isolated from mentors and colleagues and from the information resources necessary to support them personally and professionally;

(4) using information technology to deliver medical services and information from one location to another is part of a multifaceted approach to address the problems of provider distribution and the development of health systems in medically underserved areas by improving communication capabilities and providing convenient access to up-to-date information, consultations and other forms of support;

(5) the use of telecommunications to deliver health services has the potential to reduce costs, improve quality, change the conditions of practice and improve access to health care in rural, medically underserved areas; and

(6) telehealth will assist in maintaining or improving the physical and economic health of medically underserved communities by keeping the source of general health, behavioral health and oral health care in the local area, strengthening the health infrastructure and preserving health-care-related jobs.

B. The purpose of the New Mexico Telehealth Act is to provide a framework for health care providers to follow in providing telehealth services to New Mexico citizens in a manner that provides efficient and effective access to quality health services. Telehealth services include consultations,

25-1-8. Inspection by agency.

A. The agency shall inspect food service establishments to determine compliance or lack of compliance with the Food Service Sanitation Act and regulations of the board. The procedures for inspection shall be in accordance with regulations of the board. Upon request by the agency to a food service establishment operator or to his employee or agent in charge of the food service establishment premises, he shall permit the agency official, upon proper identification, to enter the premises, inspect all parts of the premises and inspect and copy any records of food purchases by the food service establishment. The operator or his employee, or agent in charge of the food service establishment premises shall be given an opportunity to accompany the agency official on his inspection and as soon as possible after the inspection, a report of the inspection shall be furnished to him. Refusal to allow an inspection is grounds for revocation of the permit of the operator, provided that the agency official has tendered proper identification prior to the refusal.

B. During an inspection the agency may take samples of food and other substances found on the premises for the purpose of determining compliance with provisions of the Food Service Sanitation Act and regulations of the board.

A suspension action taken under this section is effective when communicated to the food service establishment operator or any employee or agent of the operator who is in charge of the premises involved. If there is no designated employee or agent in charge of the premises, communication to any employee physically present on the premises is sufficient communication to make the suspension effective. No suspension action taken under this section shall continue beyond the time that the conditions causing the suspension cease to exist, as determined by an inspection by the agency at the request of the food service operator.

D. Whenever the director finds in any room, building or vehicle of transportation at a dairy establishment any dairy product that is unsound or contains any filthy, decomposed or putrid substance or that may be poisonous or deleterious to health or otherwise unsafe, the same being hereby declared to be a nuisance, he shall condemn or destroy the dairy product or in any other manner render it unsaleable as human food.

H. it purports to be or is represented as:

25-7A-12. Manufacturing, packing and processing permits for certain classes of dairy products; suspension; inspections.

A. Whenever the board finds after investigation that the distribution in New Mexico of any class of dairy product may, by reason of contamination with microorganisms during manufacture, processing or packing in any locality, be injurious to health and that such injurious nature cannot be adequately determined after the dairy product has entered commerce, it then and in such case only shall promulgate regulations providing for the issuance, by the director to manufacturers, processors or packers of such class of dairy product in such locality, of permits to which shall be attached such conditions governing the manufacture, processing or packing of such class of dairy product for such temporary period of time as may be necessary to protect the public health, and after the effective date of the regulations and during the temporary period, no dairy establishment shall introduce or deliver for introduction into commerce any such dairy product manufactured, processed or packed by any such manufacturer, processor or packer

The holder of a permit so suspended shall be privileged at any time to apply for the reinstatement of the permit, and the director shall, immediately after prompt hearing and an inspection of the establishment, reinstate the permit if it is found that adequate measures have been taken to comply with and maintain the conditions of the permit as originally issued or as amended.

C. The director shall have access to any factory or establishment, the operator of which holds a permit from the director, for the purpose of ascertaining whether or not the conditions of the permit are being complied with, and denial of access for inspection shall be ground for suspension of the permit until access is freely given by the operator.

Any poisonous or deleterious substance added to any dairy product, except where the substance is required in production or cannot be avoided by good manufacturing practice, shall be deemed to be unsafe for purposes of the application of Subsection B of Section 10 [25-7A-10 NMSA 1978] of the New Mexico Dairy Product Act; but when the substance is required or cannot be avoided, the board shall promulgate regulations limiting the quantity therein or thereon to such extent as the board finds necessary for the protection of public health, and any quantity exceeding the limits so fixed shall also be deemed to be unsafe for purposes of the application of Subsection B of Section 10 of the New Mexico Dairy Product Act. While such a regulation is in effect limiting the quantity of any such substance in the case of any dairy product, the dairy product shall not, by reason of bearing or containing any added amount of the substance, be considered to be adulterated within the meaning of Subsection A of Section 10 of the New Mexico Dairy Product Act. In determining the quantity of the added substance to be tolerated in or on different dairy products, the board shall take into account the extent to which the use of the substance is required or cannot be avoided in the production of each diary product and the other ways in which the consumer may be affected by the same or other poisonous or deleterious substances.

25-7A-14. False advertising.

A. An advertisement of a dairy product is deemed to be false if it is false or misleading in any particular manner.

B. If a dairy product is alleged to be misbranded because the labeling is misleading or if an advertisement is alleged to be false because it is misleading, then in determining whether the labeling or advertisement is misleading, there shall be taken into account, among other things, not only representations made or suggested by statement, word, design, device, sound or in any combination thereof, but also the extent to which the labeling or advertisement fails to reveal facts material in the light of such representations or material with respect to consequences that may result from the use of the dairy product to which the labeling or advertisement relates under the conditions of use prescribed in the labeling or advertisement thereof or under such conditions of use as are customary or usual.

A. A drug or device shall be deemed to be misbranded:

(1) if its labeling is false or misleading in any particular;

(2) if in package form, unless it bears a label containing the name and place of the business of the manufacturer, packer or distributor and an accurate statement of the quantity of the contents in terms of weight, measure or numerical count; provided that reasonable variations shall be permitted and exemptions as to small packages shall be allowed in accordance with regulations prescribed by the board or issued under the federal act;

(3) if it is a drug subject to the restrictions on sale contained in Subparagraph 1 of Subsection (b) of 21 U.S.C. Section 353, which provisions describe those substances commonly referred to as "legend drugs", and if the drug is in package form, unless it bears a label on its immediate container, and on any outer container if such there be, including the name and place of the business of the manufacturer of the finished dosage form and the name and place of business of the packer or distributor and an accurate statement of the quantity of the contents in terms of weight, measure or numerical count;

(4) if any word, statement or other information required by or under authority of the New Mexico Drug, Device and Cosmetic Act to appear on the label or labeling is not prominently placed with such conspicuousness, as compared with other words, statements, designs or devices in the labeling, and in such terms as to render it likely to be read and understood by the ordinary individual under customary conditions of purchase and use;

(5) if it is for use by man and contains any quantity of a narcotic or hypnotic substance or any chemical derivative of such substance, which derivative after investigation has been found to be and designated as habit-forming by regulations issued pursuant to Section 502(d) or 511 of the federal act, unless its label bears the name and quantity or proportion of such substance or derivative and in juxtaposition therewith the statement "Warning - May be habit-forming" and meets labeling requirements of the federal Comprehensive Drug Abuse Prevention and Control Act of 1970; or

(6) if it is a drug, unless the label bears, to the exclusion of any other nonproprietary name except the applicable systematic chemical name or the chemical formula, the established name, as defined in this section, of the drug, and in case it is fabricated from two or more active ingredients, the established name and quantity of each active ingredient, including the kind and quantity or proportion of any alcohol and also including the established name and quantity or proportion of any bromides, ether, chloroform, acetanilid, acetphenetidin, antipyrine, amidropyrine, atropine, hyoscine, hyoscyamine, arsenic, digitalis, digitalis glycosides, mercury, ouabain, strophanthin, strychnine, thyroid or any derivative or preparation of any such substances contained therein; provided that the requirements for stating the quantity of the active ingredients, other than the quantity of those specifically named in this section, shall apply only to prescription drugs; provided, further, that to the extent that compliance with the requirements of this section is impracticable, exemptions shall be allowed under regulations promulgated by the board or under the federal act.

(2) if there is no such name and such drug or such ingredient is an article recognized in an official compendium, then the official title in such compendium or if neither applies, then the common or usual name, if any, of such drug or of such ingredient; provided that where an article is recognized in the United States pharmacopoeia and in the homeopathic pharmacopoeia under different official titles, the official title used in the United States pharmacopoeia shall apply unless it is labeled and offered for sale as a homeopathic drug, in which case the official title used in the homeopathic pharmacopoeia shall apply.

C. A drug or device shall be deemed to be misbranded unless its labeling bears adequate directions for use and such adequate warnings against use in those pathological conditions or by children where its use may be dangerous to health or against unsafe dosage or methods or duration of administration or application, in such manner and form as are necessary for the protection of users; provided that where adequate directions for use as applied to any drug or device are not necessary for the protection of the public health, the board shall promulgate regulations exempting such drug or device from such requirements; provided, further, that articles exempted under regulations issued under Section 502(f) of the federal act may also be exempt.

D. A drug or device shall be deemed to be misbranded if it purports to be a drug the name of which is recognized in an official compendium unless it is packed and labeled as prescribed therein; provided that the method of packing may be modified with the consent of the board. Whenever a drug is recognized in both the United States pharmacopoeia and the homeopathic pharmacopoeia of the United States, it shall be subject to the requirements of the United States pharmacopoeia with respect to packaging and labeling unless it is labeled and offered for sale as a homeopathic drug, in which case it shall be subject to the provisions of the homeopathic pharmacopoeia of the United States and not those of the United States pharmacopoeia; provided, further, that in the event of inconsistency between the requirements of this subsection and those of Paragraph (6) of Subsection A of this section as to the name by which the drug or its ingredients shall be designated, the requirements of Paragraph (6) of Subsection A of this section shall prevail.

E. A drug or device shall be deemed to be misbranded if it has been found by the board or under the federal act to be a drug liable to deterioration unless it is packaged in such form and manner and its label bears the statement of such precautions as the regulations issued by the board or under the federal act require as necessary for the protection of public health. No regulation shall be established for any drug recognized in an official compendium until the board has informed the appropriate body charged with the revision of such compendium of the need for such packaging or labeling requirements and such body has failed within a reasonable time to prescribe such requirements.

F. A drug or device shall be deemed to be misbranded if it is a drug and its container is so made, formed or filled as to be misleading or if it is an imitation of another drug or if it is offered for sale under the name of another drug or if it bears a copy, counterfeit or colorable imitation of a trademark, label, container or identifying name or design of another drug.

G. A drug or device shall be deemed to be misbranded if it is dangerous to health when used in the dosage or with the frequency or duration prescribed, recommended or suggested in the labeling.

H. A drug or device shall be deemed to be misbranded if it is or purports to be or is represented as a drug composed wholly or partly of insulin unless it is from a batch with respect to which a certificate or release has been issued pursuant to Section 506 of the federal act and such certificate or release is in effect with respect to such drug.

These records shall be open to inspection by any enforcement officer of this state.

B. Practitioners licensed in this state may prescribe, provide samples of and dispense any dangerous drug to a patient where there is a valid practitioner-patient relationship. A record of all such dispensing shall be kept showing the date the drug was dispensed and bearing the name and address of the patient to whom dispensed. It is the duty of every licensed physician, dentist, veterinarian, pharmacist or person holding a limited license issued under Subsection B of Section 61-11-14 NMSA 1978, when dispensing any dangerous drug, to mark on the dispensing container the name of the patient, the date dispensed, the name and address of the person dispensing the drug, the name and strength of the drug, expiration date where applicable, adequate directions for use and the prescription number when applicable. All official compendium requirements for the preservation, packaging, labeling and storage of dangerous drugs are applicable where drugs are held for dispensing to the public, whether by a pharmacy, clinic, hospital or practitioner.

C. Pharmacists are prohibited from selling or dispensing a dangerous drug except on prescription or drug order of a practitioner and except as such sale or possession is authorized under Subsection A of this section. It is the duty of all pharmacists to keep an accurate record of all disposals, which record shall be open to inspection by an enforcement officer of this state.

D. dangerous drug unless such substance has been dispensed to the person either directly by a practitioner or on a prescription.

F. All records required to be kept under the provisions of the New Mexico Drug, Device and Cosmetic Act shall be preserved for a period of three years, provided that records requirements do not apply to the administration of a drug to a patient upon whom the practitioner personally attends, and provided that records of controlled substances shall be kept in accordance with the provisions of the Controlled Substances Act.

G. A prescription shall not be filled:

(1) as a refill if it is marked by the issuing practitioner to indicate that the prescription is not to be refilled;

(2) except in compliance with the provisions of the Controlled Substances Act if the drug is a controlled substance;

(3) unless the fill is made in accordance with the provisions of this section; and

(4) when the practitioner does not indicate fill instructions on the original prescription calling for a dangerous drug, unless:

(a) the practitioner is contacted orally, by telephone or other means of communication for instruction; and

(b) if authorization to fill is given the pharmacist, the following information will be immediately transferred to the original prescription: 1) date; 2) name of person authorizing the fill; 3) pharmacist's initials; and 4) amount dispensed if different from the amount indicated on the original prescription.

H. Nothing in this section shall prevent the owner of livestock or the owner's consignee or their employees to be in possession of drugs for their use in performing routine, accepted livestock management practices in the care of livestock belonging to the owner, and the drugs are labeled as being restricted to animal use only; provided, that if such drugs bear the legend: "CAUTION: federal law restricts this drug to use by or on the order of a licensed veterinarian", the drugs may be used or distributed only as provided in Subsection A of Section 26-1-15 NMSA 1978.

I. When, on the original prescription calling for a dangerous drug that is not a controlled substance, a practitioner indicates a specific number of fills or a specific period of time during which a prescription may be filled, a drug may be filled the number of times or for the period of time that the prescription indicates if the following information is provided with the prescription:

(1) the date of fill;

(2) the initials of the pharmacist filling the prescription; and

(3) the amount of drug dispensed, if it differs from the amount called for on the original prescription.

J. A pharmacist may dispense a quantity not to exceed a ninety-day supply of a dangerous drug by combining valid fills when:

(1) an indication on the prescription or label does not specifically prohibit a combined fill; and

(2) the dangerous drug to be filled is not a controlled substance.

K. When the practitioner indicates on the original prescription calling for dangerous drugs that it may be filled "prn", the pharmacist may fill it within the limits of the dosage directions for a period of twelve months, provided the date of filling and the initials of the pharmacist are recorded on the original prescription. At the expiration of the twelve-month period, the practitioner must be contacted for a new prescription; provided that this is not to be construed to apply to those drugs regulated by the Controlled Substances Act.

L. The board may adopt and promulgate regulations to permit the use of computer systems for the storage and retrieval of prescriptions, records for the purpose of filling prescriptions, receipt records, drug distribution records, drug withdrawals from stock, drug compounding records, drug disposition records and drug disposal records.

M. As used in this section, "fill" means a dispensing of a drug for the first time or as a refill.

ANNOTATIONS

Denial of equal protection not substantiated. — Since there are no New Mexico drug manufacturers, there is no factual basis for the claim that Subsection A(1) denies state residents equal protection. *Pharmaceutical Mfrs. Licensing of detailmen allowed. — Reviewing courts overturn the administrative interpretation of statute by appropriate agencies only if they are clearly incorrect. Since detailmen handle controlled drugs and are part of the interstate drug shipment operation, even though they do not ship drugs themselves, the interpretation by the board of pharmacy of this section to allow licensing of detailmen is not clearly erroneous and will not be overturned by a reviewing court. *Pharmaceutical Mfrs. Methaqualone. — The legislature has not specifically designated methaqualone (the generic name for quaalude) as a "controlled substance" or "dangerous drug" under either the Controlled Substances Act or this article, but has authorized the board of pharmacy to add this substance by administrative regulation to the list of substances controlled under these acts. *State v. ## 26-1-16.1. Opioids; requiring practitioners to obtain and review reports from the prescription monitoring program.

A. For purposes of this section:

(1) "opioid" means the class of drugs that includes the natural derivatives of opium, which are morphine and codeine, and related synthetic and semi-synthetic compounds that act upon opioid receptors;

(2) "practitioner" does not include a pharmacist, veterinarian or euthanasia technician;

(3) "prescription monitoring program" means a program that includes a centralized system to collect, monitor and analyze electronically, for Schedule II through V controlled substances, prescribing and dispensing data submitted by dispensers; and

(4) "Schedule II through V controlled substance" means a substance listed in Schedule II, III, IV or V pursuant to the Controlled Substances Act [Chapter 30, Article 31 NMSA 1978] or the federal controlled substances regulation, pursuant to 21 U.S.C. 812.

B. Before a practitioner prescribes or dispenses an opioid for the first time to a patient, the practitioner shall obtain and review a report from the state's prescription monitoring program for such patient for the previous twelve calendar months. If the practitioner has access to a similar report from an adjacent state for the patient, the practitioner shall also obtain and review that report. The provisions of this subsection shall not apply to the prescription or dispensing of an opioid for a supply of four days or less.

C. A practitioner shall obtain and review a report from the state's prescription monitoring program and similar reports from an adjacent state, if any, no less than once every three months for each established patient for whom the practitioner continuously prescribes or dispenses opioids.

D. A practitioner shall document the receipt and review of reports required by this section in the patient's medical record.

E. Nothing in this section shall be construed to prevent a practitioner from obtaining and reviewing a report regarding a practitioner's patient from the state's prescription monitoring program or a similar report from another state with greater frequency than that required by this section, in accordance with the practitioner's professional judgment.

F. Nothing in this section shall be construed to require a practitioner to obtain a prescription monitoring report when prescribing an opioid to a patient in a nursing facility or in hospice care.

G. The professional licensing board of each category of practitioner that is licensed or otherwise authorized to prescribe or dispense an opioid shall promulgate rules to implement the provisions of this section. Nothing in this section shall be construed to prevent a professional licensing board from requiring by rule that practitioners obtain prescription monitoring program reports with greater frequency than that required by this section.

Effective dates. — Laws 2016, ch. 46, § 2 makes Laws 2016, ch. 46, § 1 effective January 1, 2017.

26-1-17. Testing laboratory.

The college of pharmacy of the university of New Mexico shall serve as the testing laboratory for samples collected for examination pursuant to the provisions of the New Mexico Drug and Cosmetic Act [New Mexico Drug, Device and Cosmetic Act].

History: 1953 Comp., § 54-6-42, enacted by Laws 1967, ch. 23, § 17.

Bracketed material. — The bracketed material was inserted by the compiler and is not part of the law. Laws 1987, ch. 270, § 8 provided that references to the New Mexico Drug and Cosmetic Act shall be construed as references to the New Mexico Drug, Device and Cosmetic Act.

26-1-18. Promulgating regulations; procedure.

A. The board may promulgate regulations for the efficient enforcement of the New Mexico Drug, Device and Cosmetic Act. The board shall conform the regulations promulgated under the New Mexico Drug, Device and Cosmetic Act, insofar as practical, with regulations promulgated under the federal act as defined in Section 26-1-2 NMSA 1978.

B. The board shall, by regulation, declare a substance a "dangerous drug" when necessary, and notification shall be sent to all registered pharmacies in the state within sixty days of the adoption of the regulation.

C. The board shall promulgate the requirements for a pedigree.

D. All regulations promulgated by the board shall be in accordance with the Uniform Licensing Act.

ANNOTATIONS

Due process not violated. — The regulations propounded under this section and Section 30-31-11 NMSA 1978 of the Controlled Substances Act do not violate due process since New Mexico has a legitimate interest in the control of dangerous drugs sold or distributed in the state and New Mexico has not brought within the orbit of state power matters unrelated to any local interests. Pharmaceutical Mfrs. Ass'n v. N.M. Bd. of Pharmacy, 1974-NMCA-038, 86 N.M. 571, 525 P.2d 931, cert. quashed, 86 N.M. 657, 526 P.2d 799.

Commerce clause not violated. — Although the regulations adopted pursuant to this section and Section 30-31-11 NMSA 1978 of the Controlled Substances Act include a license fee to cover administrative costs, their primary purpose is the protection of the public from dangerous drugs, a purpose within the traditional definition of police power; and where the burden of a small fee does not outweigh the substantial state benefit derived from the control, and the regulations do not discriminate against interstate commerce since there are no drug manufacturers within the state, there is no violation of the commerce clause. Pharmaceutical Mfrs. Ass'n v. N.M. Bd. of Pharmacy, 1974-NMCA-038, 86 N.M. 571, 525 P.2d 931, cert. quashed, 86 N.M. 657, 526 P.2d 799.

Licensing of detailmen allowed. — Reviewing courts overturn the administrative interpretation of statute by appropriate agencies only if they are clearly incorrect.

Since detailmen handle controlled drugs and are part of the interstate drug shipment operation, even though they do not ship drugs themselves, the interpretation by the board of pharmacy of Section 26-1-16 NMSA 1978 to allow licensing of detailmen is not clearly erroneous and will not be overturned by a reviewing court. Pharmaceutical Mfrs. Ass'n v. N.M. Bd. of Pharmacy, 1974-NMCA-038, 86 N.M. 571, 525 P.2d 931, cert. quashed, 86 N.M. 657, 526 P.2d 799.

In propounding regulations board of pharmacy need not make formal findings. The only requirements which it must meet are that the public and the reviewing courts are informed as to the reasoning behind the regulation. The comments of the one board member suffice in this regard. Pharmaceutical Mfrs. Ass'n v. N.M. Bd. of Pharmacy, 1974-NMCA-038, 86 N.M. 571, 525 P.2d 931, cert. quashed, 86 N.M. 657, 526 P.2d 799.

B. As used in this section:

(1) "health insurer" means a health insurer; a nonprofit health service provider; a health maintenance organization; a managed care organization; or a provider service organization. "Health insurer" does not include:

(b) a physician or a physician group to which a health insurer has delegated financial risk for prescription drugs and that does not use a prior authorization process for prescription drugs; or

(c) a health insurer or its affiliated providers if the health insurer owns and operates its pharmacies and does not use a prior authorization process for prescription drugs; and

(2) "prescribing practitioner" means a person that is licensed or certified to prescribe and administer drugs that are subject to the New Mexico Drug, Device and Cosmetic Act.

History: Laws 2013, ch. 170, § 4.

Effective dates. — Laws 2013, ch. 170 contained no effective date provision, but, pursuant to N.M. Const., art. IV, § 23, was effective June 14, 2013, 90 days after the adjournment of the legislature.

26-1-19. Power to make inspections and secure samples.

The board or its duly authorized agent shall have free access at all reasonable hours to any factory, warehouse or establishment in which drugs, devices or cosmetics are manufactured, processed, packed or held for introduction into commerce, or to enter any vehicle being used to transport or hold such drugs, devices or cosmetics in commerce, for the purpose of inspecting such factory, warehouse, establishment or vehicle to determine if any of the provisions of the New Mexico Drug and Cosmetic Act [New Mexico Drug, Device and Cosmetic Act] are being violated, and to secure samples or specimens of any drug, device or cosmetic after paying or offering to pay for such sample. It shall be the duty of the board to make or cause to be made examinations of samples secured under the provisions of this section to determine whether or not any provision of the New Mexico Drug and Cosmetic Act [New Mexico Drug, Device and Cosmetic Act] is being violated.

26-1-21. Power of board to publish reports and disseminate information.

A. The board may cause to be published from time to time reports summarizing all judgments, decrees and court orders which have been rendered, including the nature of the charge and the disposition thereof.

B. The board may also cause to be disseminated such information regarding drugs, devices and cosmetics as the board deems necessary in the interest of the public health and the protection of the consumer against fraud. Nothing in this section shall be construed to prohibit the board from collecting, reporting and illustrating the results of the investigations of the board.

History: 1953 Comp., § 54-6-46, enacted by Laws 1967, ch. 23, § 21.

ANNOTATIONS

Generally. — A statute such as this one authorizes or permits the pharmacy board to make public, through the pharmaceutical association drug store "El Boticario," an item pertaining to the sale of a legendary drug to a nondrug store, if a conviction or convictions have been obtained in the courts of the state of New Mexico, but not otherwise. 1953-54 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 53-5865 (opinion rendered under former law).

The board is permitted and authorized to disseminate all reports and other information, and the fact that the firms, persons or agencies named in said item are published in an outside publication would not incriminate the board or agency mentioned in all cases where conviction or convictions have been obtained in the courts of this state, but not otherwise. 1953-54 Op. Att'y Gen. No. 53-5865 (opinion rendered under former law).

(1) the name and place of business of the manufacturer, packer or distributor; and

(2) an accurate statement of the quantity of the contents in terms of weight, measure or numerical count; provided, that reasonable variations shall be permitted, and exemptions made for information pertaining to weight, measure or numerical count as to small packages, shall be established by regulations prescribed by the board;

C. if any word, statement or other information required by or under the authority of the New Mexico Drug and Cosmetic Act [New Mexico Drug, Device and Cosmetic Act] to appear on the label or labeling is not prominently placed thereon with such conspicuousness as compared with other words, statements, designs or devices, in the labeling, and in such terms as to render it likely to be read and understood by the ordinary individual under customary conditions of the purchase and use;

D. if its container is so made, formed or filled as to be misleading; or

E. if it is a color additive, unless its packaging and labeling are in conformity with such packaging and labeling requirements applicable to such color additive prescribed under the provisions of the federal act. History: 1953 Comp., § 54-15-1, enacted by Laws 1978, ch. 22, § 1.

26-2A-2. Purpose.

The legislature finds that recent research has shown that the use of marijuana may alleviate the nausea and ill-effects of cancer chemotherapy, and, additionally, may alleviate the ill-effects of glaucoma. The legislature further finds that there is a need for further research and experimentation with regards to the use of marijuana under strictly controlled circumstances. Refusal to comply with regulations terminates eligibility. — Where an applicant for public assistance refuses to comply with regulations requiring assignment of support rights, she may not maintain her eligibility for aid to families with dependent children benefits. The department's refusal to provide such benefits on that basis is in accordance with applicable law and regulations. Melton v. N.M. Dep't of Human Servs., 1981-NMCA-130, 97 N.M. 102, 637 P.2d 52.

Validity of regulation limiting duration of cash assistance payments. — This section did not prevent state health and social services department (now human services department) from enacting regulation placing a six-month limitation on general assistance benefits paid to temporarily disabled needy persons with no minor children, since the limitation contemplated by the legislature was not confined to the amount of the periodic payments, but also applied to the length of time such payments were made. Health & Social Servs. Dep't v. Garcia, 1976-NMSC-003, 88 N.M. 640, 545 P.2d 1018.

The response shall be by physical mail, electronic mail or facsimile or by access into a department-authorized web site.

authorized by Section 10 [27-2-7 NMSA 1978] of the Public Assistance Act. The rate of payment for in-patient hospital services shall be based either on the reasonable cost or the customary cost of such services, whichever is less. In determining reasonable cost under this section, the board shall adopt regulations establishing a formula consistent with the federal act. The department shall apply that formula to determine the amount to which each hospital is entitled as reimbursement for providing in-patient hospital services.

B. To receive reimbursement for providing in-patient hospital services, a hospital shall file annually with the department such information as the department may reasonably require to determine reasonable costs or the hospital's customary cost of in-patient hospital services.

C. Any hospital entitled to reimbursement for in-patient hospital services shall be entitled to a hearing, pursuant to regulations of the board consistent with applicable state law, if the hospital disagrees with the department's determination of the reimbursement the hospital is to receive.

The human services department shall establish a rate for the reimbursement of physicians, dentists, optometrists, podiatrists and psychologists for services rendered to medicaid patients that provides equal reimbursement for the same or similar services rendered without respect to the date on which such physician, dentist, optometrist, podiatrist or psychologist entered into practice in New Mexico, the date on which the physician, dentist, optometrist, podiatrist or psychologist entered into an agreement or contract to provide such services or the location in which such services are to be provided in the state; provided, however, that the requirements of this section shall not apply when the human services department contracts with entities pursuant to Section 27-2-12.6 NMSA 1978 to negotiate a rate for the reimbursement for services rendered to medicaid patients in the medicaid managed care system.

27-2-12.4. Long-term care facilities; noncompliance with standards and conditions; sanctions.

A. In addition to any other actions required or permitted by federal law or regulation, the human services department shall impose a hold on state medicaid payments to a long-term care facility thirty days after the health and environment department [department of health] notifies the human services department in writing pursuant to an on-site visit that the long-term care facility is not in substantial compliance with the standards or conditions of participation promulgated by the federal department of health and human services pursuant to which the facility is a party to a medicaid provider agreement, unless the substantial noncompliance has been corrected within that thirty-day period or the facility's medicaid provider agreement is terminated or not renewed based in whole or in part on the noncompliance. The written notice shall cite the specific deficiencies that constitute noncompliance.

B. The human services department shall remove the payment hold imposed under Subsection A of this section when the health and environment department [department of health] pursuant to an on-site visit certifies in writing to the human services department that the long-term care facility is in substantial compliance with the standards or conditions of participation pursuant to which the facility is a party to a medicaid provider agreement.

C. The human services department shall not reimburse any long-term care facility during the payment hold period imposed pursuant to Subsection A of this section for any medicaid recipient-patients who are new admissions and who are admitted on or after the day the hold is imposed and prior to the day the hold is removed.

D. If a long-term care facility is certified in writing to be in noncompliance pursuant to Subsection A of this section for the second time in any twelve-month period, the human services department shall cancel or refuse to execute the long-term care facility's medicaid provider agreement for a two-month period, unless it can be demonstrated that harm to the patients would result from this action or that good cause exists to allow the facility to continue to participate in the medicaid program. The provisions of this subsection are subject to appeal procedures set forth in federal regulations for nonrenewal or termination of a medicaid provider agreement.

E. A long-term care facility shall not charge medicaid recipient-patients, their families or their responsible parties to recoup any payments not received because of a hold on medicaid payments imposed pursuant to this section.

F. This section shall not be construed to affect any other provisions for medicaid provider agreement termination, nonrenewal, due process and appeal pursuant to federal law or regulation.

(1) "day" means a twenty-four hour period beginning at midnight and ending one second before midnight;

(2) "long-term care facility" means any intermediate care facility or skilled nursing facility which is licensed by the health and environment department [department of health] and which is medicaid certified;

History: Laws 1987, ch. 214, § 1.

The nursing facility shall refund to the patient or responsible party all out-of-pocket money except for required medical-care credits paid to the nursing facility for that patient's care on and after the date of medicaid eligibility for services covered by the medicaid program. Within thirty days after notification by the human services department of the patient's medicaid eligibility, the nursing facility shall make any necessary refund to the patient or responsible party required under this section.

B. In any cause of action brought against a nursing facility because of its failure to make a refund to the patient or responsible party as required under Subsection A of this section, the patient or responsible party may be awarded triple the amount of the money not refunded or three hundred dollars ($300), whichever is greater, and reasonable attorneys' fees and court costs.

The department shall make a reasonable effort to assist the eligible entities to enroll in the program and to purchase prescription drugs under the federal drug pricing program. The department shall ensure that entities enrolled in the federal drug pricing program are reimbursed for drugs purchased for use by medicaid recipients at acquisition cost and that the purchases are not included in a rebate program;

(4) work toward the development of a prescription drug purchasing cooperative to combine the buying power of the state's medicaid program, the publicly funded health care agencies of the Health Care Purchasing Act, the department of health, the corrections department and other potential public or private purchasers, including other states, to obtain the best price for prescription drugs. The administration and price negotiation of the prescription drug purchasing cooperative shall be consolidated under a single agency as determined by the governor;

(5) in consultation and collaboration with the department of health and medicaid providers and contractors, develop a program to expand the use of community health promoters. The community health promoters shall assist selected medicaid recipients in understanding the requirements of the medicaid program; ensuring that recipients are seeking and receiving primary and preventive health care services; following health care providers' orders or recommendations for medication, diet and exercise; and keeping appointments for examinations and diagnostic examinations;

(6) require that the managed care organizations provide or strengthen disease management programs for medical assistance recipients through closer coordination with and assistance to primary care and safety net providers and seek to adopt uniform key health status indicators. The department shall ensure that the managed care organizations make reasonable efforts and actively seek the expanded participation in disease management programs of primary care providers and other health care providers, particularly in underserved areas;

(7) ensure that case management services are provided to assist medicaid recipients in accessing needed medical, social and other services. The department shall require that managed care organizations provide or strengthen case management services through closer coordination with and assistance to primary care and safety net providers. The case management services shall be targeted to specific classes of individuals or individuals in specific areas where medicaid costs or utilization demonstrate a lack of health care management or coordination;

(8) design a pilot disease management program for the fee-for-service population. The department shall ensure that the disease management program is based on key health status indicators, accountability for clinical benefits and demonstrated cost savings;

(9) continue the personal care option with increased consumer awareness of consumer-directed services as a choice in addition to consumer-delegated services;

(10) expand the program of all-inclusive care for the elderly to a rural or urban area with a population less than four hundred thousand to the extent resources are available;

(11) in conjunction with the department of health, the children, youth and families department and the state agency on aging [aging and long-term services department], coordinate the state's long-term care services, including health and social services and assessment and information and referral development for recipients through an appropriate transition process;

(12) develop a fraud and abuse detection and recovery plan that ensures cooperation, sharing of information and general collaboration among the medicaid fraud control unit of the attorney general, the managed care organizations, medicaid providers, consumer groups and the department to identify, prevent or recover medicaid reimbursement obtained through fraudulent or inappropriate means;

(13) work with other agencies to identify other state-funded health care programs and services that may be reimbursable under medicaid and to ensure that the programs and services meet the requirements for federal funding;

(14) in conjunction with Indian health service facilities or tribally operated health care facilities pursuant to Section 638 of the Indian Self-Determination and Education Assistance Act, medicaid managed care organizations and medicaid providers, ensure that Indian health service facilities and tribally operated facilities are utilized to the extent possible for services that are eligible for a one hundred percent federal medical assistance percentage match;

(16) ensure that primary care clinics engaged in medicaid-related outreach and enrollment activities are appropriately reimbursed under medicaid;

(17) assess a premium on selected medicaid recipients who meet criteria as determined by the department;

(18) assess tiered co-payments on emergency room services in amounts comparable to those assessed for the same services by commercial health insurers or health maintenance organizations, except that no co-payment shall be imposed if the patient is admitted as a hospital inpatient as a result of the emergency room evaluation. The emergency room provider shall make a good faith effort to collect the co-payment from the patient. The co-payment shall apply to medicaid recipients in the managed care system or the fee-for-service system;

(19) assess tiered co-payments on selected higher-cost prescription drugs to provide incentives for greater use of generic prescription drugs when there is a generic or lower-cost equivalent available;

(20) assess a co-payment on the purchase of selected prescription drugs that are not on the uniform preferred drug list as described in Paragraph (1) of this subsection;

(21) consider the impact of cost-sharing requirements on medicaid recipients' access to health care. The department shall ensure that premiums and co-payments described in Paragraphs (17) through (20) of this subsection are in compliance with federal requirements;

(22) provide vision benefits for adults that do not exceed one routine eye exam and one set of corrective lenses in a twelve-month period or more than one frame for corrective lenses in a twenty-four-month period, except as medically warranted;

(24) review its nursing home eligibility criteria to ensure that consideration of income, trusts and other assets are the maximum permissible under federal law.

B. The department shall, to the extent possible, combine or coordinate similar initiatives in this section or in other medicaid reform committee recommendations to avoid duplication or conflict. A. By January 1, 2019, the secretary shall require any medical assistance plan for which any step therapy protocols are required to establish clinical review criteria for those step therapy protocols. The clinical review criteria shall be based on clinical practice guidelines that:

(1) recommend that the prescription drugs subject to step therapy protocols be taken in the specific sequence required by the step therapy protocol;

(2) are developed and endorsed by an interdisciplinary panel of experts that manages conflicts of interest among the members of the panel of experts by:

(a) requiring members to: 1) disclose any potential conflicts of interest with health care plans, medical assistance plans, health maintenance organizations, pharmaceutical manufacturers, pharmacy benefits managers and any other entities; and 2) recuse themselves if there is a conflict of interest; and

C. When a medical assistance plan restricts coverage of a prescription drug for the treatment of any medical condition through the use of a step therapy protocol, a recipient and the practitioner prescribing the prescription drug shall have access to a clear, readily accessible and convenient process to request a step therapy exception determination. A medical assistance plan may use its existing medical exceptions process in accordance with the provisions of Subsections D through I of this section to satisfy this requirement. The process shall be made easily accessible for recipients and practitioners on the medical assistance plan's publicly accessible website.

D. A medical assistance plan shall expeditiously grant an exception to the medical assistance plan's step therapy protocol, based on medical necessity and a clinically valid explanation from the patient's prescribing practitioner as to why a drug on the plan's formulary that is therapeutically equivalent to the prescribed drug should not be substituted for the prescribed drug, if:

(1) the prescription drug that is the subject of the exception request is contraindicated or will likely cause an adverse reaction by or physical or mental harm to the patient;

(2) the prescription drug that is the subject of the exception request is expected to be ineffective based on the known clinical characteristics of the patient and the known characteristics of the prescription drug regimen;

(3) while under the recipient's current medical assistance plan, or under the recipient's previous health coverage, the recipient has tried the prescription drug that is the subject of the exception request or another prescription drug in the same pharmacologic class or with the same mechanism of action as the prescription drug that is the subject of the exception request and that prescription drug was discontinued due to lack of efficacy or effectiveness, diminished effect or an adverse event; or

(4) the prescription drug required pursuant to the step therapy protocol is not in the best interest of the patient, based on clinical appropriateness, because the patient's use of the prescription drug is expected to:

(a) cause a significant barrier to the patient's adherence to or compliance with the patient's plan of care;

(b) worsen a comorbid condition of the patient; or

(c) decrease the patient's ability to achieve or maintain reasonable functional ability in performing daily activities.

E. Upon the granting of an exception to a medical assistance plan's step therapy protocol, a medical assistance plan shall authorize coverage for the prescription drug that is the subject of the exception request.

F. A medical assistance plan shall respond with its decision on a recipient's exception request within seventy-two hours of receipt. In cases where exigent circumstances exist, a medical assistance plan shall respond within twenty-four hours of receipt of the exception request. In the event the medical assistance plan does not respond to an exception request within the time frames required pursuant to this subsection, the exception request shall be granted.

G. A medical assistance plan's denial of a request for an exception for step therapy protocols shall be subject to review and appeal pursuant to department rules.

H. After a recipient has made an exception request in accordance with the provisions of this section, a medical assistance plan shall authorize continued coverage of a prescription drug that is the subject of the exception request pending the determination of the exception request.

I. The provisions of this section shall not be construed to prevent:

(1) a medical assistance plan from requiring a patient to try a generic equivalent of a prescription drug before providing coverage for the equivalent brand-name prescription drug; or

(2) a practitioner from prescribing a prescription drug that the practitioner has determined to be medically necessary.

J. As used in this section, "medical necessity" or "medically necessary" means health care services determined by a practitioner, in consultation with the medical assistance plan, to be appropriate or necessary, according to:

The state department is hereby designated as the custodian, subject to the provisions of Section 21 [repealed] of this act, of any and all monies which may be received by the state of New Mexico, which the state board of public welfare is authorized to administer, from any appropriations made by the congress of the United States for the purpose of cooperating with the several states in the enforcement and administration of the provisions of the federal Social Security Act, referred to in Section 9 [27-2-15 NMSA 1978], and all monies received from any other source for the purposes set forth in this act. The state department is hereby authorized to receive such monies, provide for the proper custody thereof, and to make disbursements therefrom under such rules and regulations as the state board may prescribe.

27-2-23. Third party liability.

A. The income support division of the department shall make reasonable efforts to ascertain any legal liability of third parties who are or may be liable to pay all or part of the medical cost of injury, disease or disability of an applicant for or recipient of medical assistance pursuant to the provisions of Chapter 27 NMSA 1978.

B. When the department makes medical assistance payments on behalf of a recipient, the department is subrogated to any right of the recipient against a third party for recovery of medical expenses to the extent that the department has made payment.

C. Health insurers, including self-insured plans, group health plans, service benefit plans, managed care organizations, pharmacy benefit managers or other parties, that are, by statute, contract or agreement, legally responsible for payment of a claim for a health care item or service, as a condition of doing business with New Mexico, shall:

(1) provide, with respect to individuals who are eligible for or are provided medical assistance under the medicaid program, upon the request of the state, information to determine during what period the individual, the individual's spouse or the individual's dependents may be, or may have been, covered by a health insurer and the nature of the coverage provided by the health insurer, including the name, address and identifying number of the plan;

(2) accept New Mexico's right of recovery and the assignment to New Mexico of any right of an individual or other entity to payment from the party for an item or service for which payment has been made under the medicaid program;

(3) respond to any inquiry by New Mexico regarding a claim for payment for any health care item or service that is submitted no later than three years after the date of the provision of such health care item or service; and

(4) agree not to deny a claim submitted by New Mexico solely on the basis of the date of submission of the claim by the provider, the type of the claim form or a failure to present proper documentation at the point-of-sale that is the basis of the claim, if:

(a) the claim is submitted by New Mexico within the three-year period beginning on the date on which the item or service was furnished; and

(b) any action by New Mexico to enforce its rights with respect to such claim is commenced within six years of New Mexico's submission of such claim.

D. Nothing in this section shall be construed to preclude the application of common law principles in determining equitable reimbursement from any third-party source for New Mexico or a health insurer, including self-insured plans, group health plans, service benefit plans, managed care organizations, pharmacy benefit managers or other parties.

Department's subrogation is right of recovery subject to equitable principles. White v. Sutherland, 1978-NMCA-076, 92 N.M. 187, 585 P.2d 331, cert. denied, 92 N.M. 79, 582 P.2d 1292.

Circumstances held not to justify complete reimbursement. — Although this section shows an intent that medical assistance payments be repaid, it says nothing as to 100 percent repayment regardless of the facts. Where the settlement proceeds in a medical malpractice suit would constitute but a small fraction of a medical assistance recipient's actual damages and any money which the department might recover would be due to a very large extent to the energies expended in pursuing the malpractice claim by the recipient and her attorneys, who were charging a contingent fee of 25 percent of the recovery, the department was not equitably entitled to complete reimbursement for its payments to the recipient. White v. Sutherland, 1978-NMCA-076, 92 N.M. 187, 585 P.2d 331, cert. denied, 92 N.M. 79, 582 P.2d 1292.

Equitable reduction. — Subsection G of Section 27-2-28 NMSA 1978, providing for assignment to the department of a recipient's right to recovery against a tortfeasor, as reconciled with this section and federal law, does not convey the right to full reimbursement in every case, but permits an equitable reduction. Kahrs v. Sanchez, 1998-NMCA-037, 125 N.M. 1, 956 P.2d 132, cert. denied, 124 N.M. 589, 953 P.2d 1087.

27-2-23.1. Employee Retirement Income Security Act employee health benefit plans; clauses to exclude medicaid coverage prohibited.

No employee health benefit plan established under the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, 29 U.S.C. 1144, that provides payments for health care on behalf of individuals residing in the state shall contain any provisions excluding or limiting coverage or payment for any health care for an individual who would otherwise be covered or entitled to benefits or services under the terms of the employee health benefit plan, because that individual is provided, or is eligible for, benefits under the medicaid program of this state pursuant to Title XIX of the federal Social Security Act, 42 U.S.C. 1396, et seq.

27-2-24. [Federal government entitled to share recovery.]

The federal government shall be entitled to a share of any amounts recovered under the preceding two sections [27-2-22, 27-2-23 NMSA 1978] if required as a condition to federal financial participation. The federal government's share shall be limited to a percentage of the net recovery equal to the percentage of federal participation claimed by the state for the payments when

Section 27-2-22 was repealed by Laws 1998, ch. 9, § 28, effective February 28, 1998.

27-2-25. Funeral expenses.

A. On the death of:

(1) a recipient of financial assistance under Section 27-2-6 NMSA 1978 [repealed] or Section 27-2-7 NMSA 1978 or under the federal supplemental security income program; or

(2) an individual living in a nursing home or an intermediate care facility the payment for whose care is made in whole or in part pursuant to Title 19 of the federal act; funeral expenses up to two hundred dollars ($200) shall be paid by the health and social services department if the deceased's available resources, as defined by regulation of the board, are insufficient to pay the funeral expenses, the persons legally responsible for the support of the deceased are unable to pay the funeral expenses, and no other person will undertake to pay said expenses.

B. No payment shall be made by the department when resources available from all sources to pay the funeral expenses total six hundred dollars ($600) or more. When the resources are less than six hundred dollars ($600), the department shall pay the difference between six hundred dollars ($600) and the resources, or two hundred dollars ($200), whichever is less.

27-2-26. Money received from other sources; duty and liability of funeral director.

Should any funeral director accept payment from sources other than the department for burial of a deceased person for whom a claim for burial expenses has been made to the department, he shall immediately notify the department of said payment. The department will consider said payment in determining the amount of any funeral expense payment it makes. If the department has already made payment, the funeral director shall refund to the department any excess over the amount which the department would have paid had it known of the payment from other sources. If any funeral director shall fail to notify the department of any such payment from other sources, he shall be liable to the department in an amount double the amount paid or to be paid by the department.

27-2-27. Single state agency; powers and duties.

A. The department is designated as the single state agency for the enforcement of child and spousal support obligations pursuant to Title IV D of the federal act with the following duties and powers to:

© 2022 State of New Mexico. New Mexico Compilation Commission. All rights reserved.

(1) establish the paternity of a child in the case of the child born out of wedlock with respect to whom an assignment of support rights has been executed in favor of the department;

(2) establish an order of support for children receiving aid to families with dependent children and, at the option of the department, for the spouse or former spouse with whom such children are living, but only if a support obligation has been established with respect to such spouse or former spouse, for whom no order of support currently exists and seek modification, based upon the noncustodial parent's ability to pay, of existing orders in which the support order is inadequate to properly care for the child and the spouse or former spouse with whom the child is living;

(3) enforce as the real party in interest any existing order for the support of children who are receiving aid to families with dependent children or of the spouse or former spouse with whom such children are living;

(4) provide services to non-aid families with dependent children in the establishment and enforcement of paternity and child support obligations, including locating the absent parent. For these services, the department is authorized to establish and collect fees, costs and charges permitted or required by federal law or by regulations adopted pursuant to that federal law; and

(5) adopt regulations for the disposition of unclaimed child, spousal or medical support payments.

B. In all cases handled by the department pursuant to the provisions of this section, the child support enforcement division or an attorney employed by the division represent the department, to the exclusion of any other party, in establishing, modifying and enforcing support obligations.

C. An attorney employed to provide the Title IV D services represents only the department's interests and no attorney-client relationship shall exist between the attorney and another party.

D. The department shall, at the time an application for child support services is made, inform the applicant that neither the Title IV D agency nor the attorney who provides services under this section is the applicant's attorney and that the attorney who provides services under this section shall not provide legal representation to the applicant.

E. The department may initiate an action or may intervene in an action involving child support.

F. The attorney employed by the department pursuant to this section shall not act as a guardian ad litem for the applicant.

G. A court shall not disqualify the department in a legal action filed pursuant to the Support Enforcement Act of the federal Social Security Act because the department has previously provided services to a party whose interests are now adverse to the relief requested.

The 2003 amendment, effective June 20, 2003, added the Subsection A designation; redesignated former Subsections A to D as Paragraphs A(1) to (4) and Subsection E as present Subsection B; substituted "currently" for "presently" following "order of support" in Paragraph A(2); and added Paragraph A(5).

The 1995 amendment, effective June 16, 1995, deleted "human services" preceding "department" in four places; in Subsection D, substituted "provide services to" for "represent" at the beginning of the first sentence and "For these services" for "For such representation" at the beginning of the second sentence; and added Subsection E.

ANNOTATIONS

Paternity action on behalf of child past majority. — The child support enforcement division could not bring paternity and past child support action on behalf of twenty-year-old child; although such action could be maintained by the child under the Uniform Parentage Act, its outcome had no bearing upon the department, and, therefore, department had no standing. *State ex rel. ## 27-2-28. Liability for repayment of public assistance.

A. In cases where the department has provided cash assistance to children in a household, the court shall award judgment in favor of the department and against the noncustodial parents of the children for child support, calculated pursuant to Section 40-4-11.1 NMSA 1978, for all months in which the children received cash assistance benefits.

B. Equitable defenses available to the noncustodial parent in claims by the custodian for retroactive support or past due support shall not operate to deprive the department of its right to request retroactive support or past due support for months during which the noncustodial parent's children received cash assistance benefits.

C. Amounts of support collected that are in excess of the amounts specified in Subsections A and B of this section shall be paid by the department to the custodian of the child.

D. No agreement between any custodian of a child and a parent of that child, either relieving the parent of any duty of child or spousal support or responsibility or purporting to settle past, present or future support obligations, either as a settlement or prepayment, shall act to reduce or terminate any rights of the department to recover from that parent for support provided, unless the department has consented to the agreement in writing.

E. The noncustodial parent shall be given credit for any support actually provided, including housing, clothing, food or funds paid prior to the entry of any order for support. The noncustodial parent has the burden to prove that the noncustodial parent has provided any support.

F. An application for public assistance by any person constitutes an assignment by operation of law of any support rights the person is entitled to during the time the person's household receives public assistance, whether the support rights are owed to the applicant or to any family member for whom the applicant is applying for or receiving assistance. The assignment includes all support rights that accrue as long as the applicant receives public assistance.

G. By operation of law, an assignment to the department of any and all rights of an applicant for or recipient of medical assistance under the medicaid program in New Mexico or supplemental security income through the social security administration:

(1) is deemed to be made of;

(a) any payment for medical care from any person, firm or corporation, including an insurance carrier; and

(b) any recovery for personal injury, whether by judgment or contract for compromise or settlement;

(2) shall be effective to the extent of the amount of medical assistance actually paid by the department under the medicaid program; and

(3) shall be effective as to the rights of any other individuals who are eligible for medical assistance and whose rights can legally be assigned by the applicant or recipient.

An applicant or recipient is required to cooperate fully with the department in its efforts to secure the assignment and to execute and deliver any instruments and papers deemed necessary to complete the assignment by the department.

Repeals and reenactments. — Laws 1981, ch. 90, § 2, repealed former 27-2-28 NMSA 1978, as amended by Laws 1973, ch. 376, § 12, relating to actions brought by the department of health and social services against the person responsible for the support of a spouse or minor children who are recipients of public assistance, and enacted a new 27-2-28 NMSA 1978.

The 2009 amendment, effective June 19, 2009, deleted former Subsection A, which provided for the liability of a noncustodial parent for repayment of public assistance; deleted former Subsection B, which provided for payment of support for the period prior to the granting of public assistance; added new Subsections A and B; in Subsection

E, at the end of the sentence, deleted "on the issue of any payment" and added "to prove that the noncustodial parent has provided any support"; in Subsection F, deleted "from any other person" and added "during the time the person's household receives public assistance" and deleted the former provision in the last sentence that limited support rights to those that had accrued at the time of application for public assistance and that provided that the assignment continues as an assignment of all support rights the applicant is entitled to receive.

The 1995 amendment, effective June 16, 1995, deleted a proviso relating to claims for reimbursement by the human services department six years prior to filing an action from the end of Subsection A and made a minor stylistic change in Subsection C.

History: Laws 1990, ch. 93, § 1.

27-2-42. Legislative findings; purpose.

A. The legislature finds that twenty-five percent of New Mexicans have no health insurance. When such individuals suffer a catastrophic illness, the large hospital bills that are incurred can often result in indigency for that sick person and his family.

B. The purpose of the Indigent Catastrophic Illness Hospital Funding Act [27-2-41 to 27-2-47 NMSA 1978] is to reduce the impact of medical indigency on the cost of health care in New Mexico by providing for payment of some portion of large hospital bills incurred by medically indigent patients.

History: Laws 1990, ch. 93, § 2.

27-2-43. Definitions.

As used in the Indigent Catastrophic Illness Hospital Funding Act [27-2-41 to 27-2-47 NMSA 1978]:

A. "department" means the human services department;

B. "fund" means the indigent catastrophic illness hospital fund;

C. "hospital" means any general or special hospital that is licensed by the health and environment department [department of health] and that has annual gross charges for medicare, medicaid and indigent patients greater than ten percent of the hospital's total annual gross charges; and

D. "medically indigent patient" means an individual who is a New Mexico resident who incurs hospital charges, who is not eligible for medicaid or medicare and whose family or household income does not exceed two hundred fifty percent of the federal poverty level.

History: Laws 1990, ch. 93, § 3.

Bracketed material. — The bracketed material was inserted by the compiler and is not part of the law. Laws 1991, ch. 25, § 16 repealed former 9-7-4 NMSA 1978, relating to the department of health and environment, and enacted a new 9-7-4 NMSA 1978, creating the department of health.

27-2-44. Indigent catastrophic illness hospital fund created.

There is created in the state treasury the "indigent catastrophic illness hospital fund". Money in the fund is appropriated to the department for the purpose of reimbursing hospitals for eligible claims for hospital charges incurred by medically indigent patients and for paying administrative costs of the department not to exceed three percent of the annual appropriation or other distribution or transfer to the fund. Money in the fund shall be invested as provided for other state funds and income earned on the fund shall be credited to the fund. No balance remaining at the end of any fiscal year shall revert to the general fund.

27-2-45. Hospitals; claims for payment.

A. A hospital may submit eligible claims to the department on or before April 1 of each year for payment from the fund by June 30 of each year in an amount determined pursuant to this section.

B. A claim submitted by a hospital for payment from the fund shall be deemed an eligible claim if it is for:

(1) uncovered hospital charges of five thousand dollars ($5,000) or more for an illness of a medically indigent patient;

(2) hospital charges incurred within the twelve months immediately prior to the applicable April 1 closing deadline; and

(3) an amount determined by subtracting from the base claim the medically indigent patient's deductible and then reducing the resulting balance, based on the hospital's medicare cost-to-charge ratio, to an amount equal to medicare allowable costs.

C. The department shall pay from the fund to each hospital the amount of each eligible claim if there is sufficient money in the fund. If there is not sufficient money in the fund to pay all eligible claims of hospitals for that year, the amount of each claim that shall be paid shall be an amount derived from multiplying the full amount of the eligible claim by the percentage derived from dividing the balance in the fund, after administrative costs have been subtracted, by the sum of the eligible claims.

History: Laws 1990, ch. 93, § 5.

27-2-46. Medically indigent patient deductible.

A medically indigent patient's deductible shall be an amount determined by the hospital that the medically indigent patient is able to pay the hospital in monthly installments over an eighteen-month period. That determination shall be made pursuant to department rules and regulations and shall include, but not be limited to, consideration of the medically indigent patient's family size, household income and obligations.

Chapter 27, Article 2B NMSA 1978 may be cited as the "New Mexico Works Act".

History: Laws 1998, ch. 8, § 1; 1998, ch. 9, § 1; 2009, ch. 186, § 1.

Applicability. — Laws 2009, ch. 186, § 7 provided that the provisions of Laws 2009, ch. 186 apply beginning August 1, 2009.

27-2B-2. Legislative findings; purpose of act.

A. The legislature finds that:

(1) the poverty rate in New Mexico is the highest in the nation and has exceeded more than twenty percent of the population for most of the past twenty-five years;

(2) having a job does not provide a guarantee of avoiding poverty as demonstrated by the high percentage of persons in the civilian labor force over sixteen years of age with reported incomes in 1989 that were below the poverty level; and

(3) the diversity of the state, with its residents living in rural and metropolitan areas, reservations and border areas, requires the state to adjust state policies governing economic and social programs for the poor and the working poor to reflect the particular needs of particular locales, not just to create a generic one-size-fits-all program.

B. The legislature finds that education and training are essential to long-term career development.

C. The legislature finds that employment improves the quality of life for parents and children by increasing family income, developing the discipline necessary for self-sufficiency and improving self-esteem, and thus, it is in the public interest to fundamentally alter the state's financial assistance program for needy families with children so both cash and services, including education, job training, child care and transportation provided in accordance with the New Mexico Works Act assist recipients to obtain and keep employment that is sufficient to sustain their families, ensure the dignity of those who receive assistance and strengthen families and families' support for their children.

D. The legislature finds that although most New Mexicans want to work, and in fact New Mexico has been cited as a "like to work" state, not all families can move quickly into the labor force and that regular assessments and key intervention and follow-up can help persons connect to the work force to obtain meaningful work and achieve self-sufficiency.

E. The legislature further finds that the federal act envisions that state and tribal governments will work together to serve participants residing in Indian country, and it is important that the state and the tribal governments work, government to government, to address the issues of availability and delivery of service to the twenty-two tribes and pueblos.

F. The purpose of the New Mexico Works Act is to increase family income through family employment and child support and, by viewing financial assistance as a support service to enable and assist parents to participate in employment rather than as an entitlement, to enable New Mexico to change the culture of the welfare office, both on the part of the department and on the part of the recipients, so that all parties can focus on addressing the barriers to participation in work activities and putting New Mexicans to work.

History: Laws 1998, ch. 8, § 2 and Laws 1998, ch. 9, § 2.

Duplicate laws. — Laws 1998, ch. 8, § 2 and Laws 1998, ch. 9, § 2 enacted identical new sections.
